REPORT CALLS FOR $6,000,000 CUT

City Welcomes Governor-General Salute of Guns As Vice-Regal Party Arrives

Colorful Scene at Docks With Naval and Military Detachments Providing Guards of Honor

Party Will Remain in City Until Thursday; Will Make Tour of Vancouver Island

With booming guns, music, flags and bunting, Victoria this afternoon welcomed Governor-General the Earl of Bessborough and the Countess of Bessborough on their first official visit to the capital of British Columbia. Parliament Square was filled with enthusiastic citizens, eager to join in welcoming the city's distinguished guests.

Their Excellencies arrived at 4 o'clock on board the steamer Princess Marguerite. As they debarked on the wharf they were welcomed by the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Fordham Johnson, Premier Tolmie, members of the Provincial Cabinet and their wives. Mayor and Mrs. Leeming, members of the City Council and their wives and civic officials. The welcoming party also included Commander Victor Brodeur, R.C.N., representing the navy, and the military forces were represented by Brigadier Sutherland Brown, G.O.C., Major Walter Inglis, A.D.C. to His Excellency, was also at the landing stage.

As the vice-regal party left the dock a salute of nineteen guns was fired by a detachment from the Royal Canadian Artillery. The bands of the Royal Canadian Navy and the Canadian Scottish Regiment played the National Anthem and the guard of honor presented arms.

The guard was paraded on Belleville Street and was jointly provided by the Navy and the Canadian Scottish Regiment. The former was represented by 100 men under the command of Lieutenant A. C. Wurtele, R.C.N., and Lieutenant J. C. Hibbard, R.C.N. The ceremony was the first parade of the new King's colors by the naval detachment. The guard provided by the Canadian Scottish included 100 men under the command of Major A. J. Gray, Capt. R. Matthews and Lieutenant Parker. Guard detachments were also provided by the various organizations of war veterans, by naval cadets and by the boy scouts of Greater Victoria.

The special arrangements for handling the traffic were supervised by detachments of provincial and city police, and the units of the guard were all in place by 3.50 o'clock, after having marched to the parade by way of Douglas Street.

GUARD INSPECTED
Following the salute, the Countess of Bessborough was escorted to an automobile on the Parliament Buildings driveway near the Cenotaph, while His Excellency inspected the guard. At the conclusion of the ceremony the party were driven to Government House, where they will be guests during their stay in Victoria. The various units of the guard of honor afterwards paraded through the city by way of Government Street.

The Earl and Countess of Bessborough are accompanied by their son, Viscount Duncannon, other members of the vice-regal party being Robin W. Baring, Lieut. D. H. Fuller, R.N., Capt. R. Stuart-French, A.D.C., and A. F. Lancelotti, private secretary.

Moon To Cover Half Of Sun In Victoria

Eclipse of Sun Will Be Forty Per Cent To-morrow Morning at 11.24 o'clock

Telescope at Gonzales Observatory To Be Used to Project Image on Screen

Commencing at 10.23 o'clock to-morrow morning the moon will begin to bite into the sun until 50 per cent of its face will be hidden from Victorians. As the sun becomes more and more of a semi-circle the light will begin to fade and a twilight dusk will usurp its place. At 11.24 o'clock the moon will have covered as much of the sun as it will in Victoria and will then gradually go away again until 12.26, when, normal conditions will once more prevail. In Victoria where the eclipse will only be partial it will be possible to see the crescent-shaped spots of light under trees.

In Eastern Canada and the United States where the eclipse will be total (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

TOKIO ADMITS OPPOSITION

Japan Follows Manchuria Course Despite Nations' Views, States Minister

Says Navy Considering Re-establishment of Port Arthur Naval Base

Associated Press
Tokio, Aug. 30.—Naval and military aspects of Japan's foreign relations and the world's reaction to Japanese policy in Manchuria were subjects for discussion to-day in the House of Representatives.

A member demanded to know what the government was doing about "concentration of the American navy in the Pacific."

Foreign Minister Uchida said he saw no reason why Japan should feel Washington to explain its fleet dispositions or otherwise take official notice of them.

"As for Manchuria," he said, "Japan is confronted with an unprecedented opposition of world opinion. Nevertheless we are determined to follow the course already fixed in the face of all opposition. The government is doing all its utmost through our diplomats abroad to improve world feeling toward Japan, but thus far we can admit no optimism."

RE-ESTABLISH NAVAL BASE
The Minister of the Navy told another questioner the navy was considering the advisability of re-establishing the naval base at Port Arthur to protect Japanese and Korean shipping.

REICHSTAG SESSION STARTS GREAT TEST

Mercury Will Fall During Eclipse

Toronto, Aug. 30.—When the period of maximum shadow is reached here in to-morrow's solar eclipse, the temperature will drop between four and five degrees, according to John Patterson, head of the Meteorological Observatory.

The eclipse will be 1 per cent total in Toronto and surrounding districts, he says, and will be at its maximum at 4.26 p.m. E.D.T. Darkness will not completely cover the city. In the section of Quebec province and the New England states, where the eclipse is 100 per cent, chickens and animals will probably roost, he says, believing night has fallen. This condition will not prevail locally, however, since the sun's face will not be entirely covered.

MANY READY FOR BIG FREE SHOW

Astronomers and Throngs in Quebec and Northeast U.S. Expect to See Eclipse

Conway, N.H., Aug. 30.—The solar system's free show is about to begin and the giant path of the total eclipse that runs across Hudson Bay, eastern Quebec and New England is crowded with scientists and laymen. The scientific instruments of forty-three expeditions are in place and last-minute adjustments have been made.

It is the weatherman who is worrying the astronomers. He predicted: "Wednesday, partly cloudy" for Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont—states where the majority of scientific camps this side of the border are located. For Massachusetts, a corner of which (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

COLLEGE STAFF ANSWERS CALL

St. John's, Winnipeg, Funds Gone, So Teachers Accept Cut in Salaries

While Auditors Tracing Defalcations, Board Says Next Term Arranged

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—All fifteen endowment funds of St. John's College and School, designed almost entirely for the teaching work, have been virtually wiped out, but the historic Anglican college and school, the first institution of its kind established west of the Red River, will carry on as usual this year, according to an announcement made by the college council to-day.

Shortages exceeding $800,000 will be shown by the auditing of accounts of the several Anglican Church and St. John's College funds administered by John A. Macbray, K.C., who was chancellor of the ecclesiastical province of Rupert's Land, it is expected. Macbray is on bail, charged with theft of $47,000 from the University of Manitoba funds, of which he was bursar, and is scheduled to appear in the provincial police court here next Thursday. A remand is expected, as he is suffering from a serious illness at his home.

SALARIES REDUCED

Continuation of the work of St. John's College and School had been made possible by voluntary acceptance by the teaching staffs of heavy salary cuts, the council stated, and the hope was expressed that Church of England people in Winnipeg would give full support to this undertaking by sending (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

QUEBEC HAS YEAR'S DEFICIT

Balance of $584,708 on Wrong Side Is Province's First in Thirty-five Years

Canadian Press
Montreal, Aug. 30.—A deficit of $584,708.61 was shown in the financial statement of the province of Quebec made public here to-day by Premier L. A. Taschereau, who holds the portfolio of Provincial Treasurer. The statement is for the fiscal year 1931-32, which closed June 30.

The statement indicates the deficit was brought about by a sharp falling off in revenues. Reductions were particularly heavy in revenues from the Quebec liquor commission, succession duties and the lands and forests department.

The fall in succession duties is significant of the effect of economic conditions on large fortunes.

Returns to the department of lands and forests were several million dollars below those of the preceding fiscal year.

FLYING FAMILY OFF TO LABRADOR

Hutchinson Plane, Carrying Eight, Flies From Anticosti; Mollison at Sydney, N.S., To-day

Canadian Press
Port Menier, Anticosti Island, Aug. 30.—The four "Flying Hutchinsons" and the four men accompanying them took off in their amphibian plane "City of Richmond," at 10.05 a.m., A.S.T., to-day for Hopedale, Labrador, on a leg of their proposed flight to London over the northern route. There was a dead calm and the sky was cloudless.

Sydney, N.S., Aug. 30.—Captain James A. Mollison, bound for Harbor Grace, Nfld., to take off for a return solo flight across the Atlantic, will remain in Sydney until the weather clears.

Meanwhile his little monoplane, "Heart's Content," is guarded by a detachment of Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

CROWDS VISIT PLANE

Crowds visited the farm to-day to see the machine in which the Scottish pilot made the first westward solo flight across the Atlantic and in which he hopes to return to the United Kingdom within the next few days.

In the city Captain Mollison was receiving a real Highland welcome. He was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Lieut.-Colonel Freeman O'Neill, commander of the First Cape Breton Highlanders.

The plane was not damaged yesterday when the resourceful Scottish pilot landed in the field after a thrilling battle with rain and fog over Cape Breton, following a flight from St. John, N.B.

SEEK BIGGER EXPORTS

Toronto, Aug. 30.—Poultry men in Canada are having a difficult time, but they are not downhearted. F. C. Eiford of Ottawa told the National Conference of Agricultural Officials here to-day. He spoke of trade prospects.

"Must Be Complete Change," Says Kidd Committee In Its Final Conclusions

Final summary of conclusions by the Kidd committee in their report on the administration of the affairs of the British Columbia government was presented by the committee as follows:

"We are of opinion that the time has come for a complete change in the ideas, opinions and motives which have influenced both the electors and the elected in the past. Patronage and self-interest have been allowed to control the affairs of government and the public purse has been regarded as an inexhaustible booty upon which all may prey. Our legislators and their leaders have lived so long in an atmosphere of concession, compromise and debt that it is difficult, if not impossible, for them to realize the entirely new conditions with which they are to-day confronted. The record of deficits and public debt to be found in the first chapter of this report proves conclusively that reform and economy have been urgently required for many years, and it is not pleasant to reflect that only the present financial crisis has created the opportunity for this warning, now much overdue, to be given to the public.

"When we consider all the circumstances constituting the financial position of our province, the picture is an alarming one. It is certain that another unbalanced budget is already in sight and that no economies of a sufficiently drastic character are being effected to compensate for the deficiency.

"The government of the day is faced with a heavy drain on the public purse for unemployment relief and other expenditures which cannot continue for more than a few months, so that the prospect for the coming winter is disturbing in the extreme. We are not alarmists, but we consider it our duty to warn the public of the present desperate condition of the government's finances in order that they may have at least an opportunity of stemming the tide before it is too late.

"We have done our best in accordance with our instructions to indicate economies which an efficient and unhampered administrative machine could enforce, bringing in sight a balanced budget and the restoration of public confidence, which to-day is badly shaken. But such a machine will, of course, depend for its successful operation on those by whom it is directed. As we have already shown in the chapter dealing with the control of expenditures, the most perfect safeguards resulting from centuries of experience can be nullified in their operation by a multitude of counsellors uncertain when to say 'Yes,' and seldom capable of saying 'No.'

"By what means such an administrative machine is to be created is not for us to say. All we can suggest is that the demand for its immediate creation is imperative if we wish to avoid the disgrace of having the control of the affairs of the province pass into the hands of its creditors.

"It has, we believe, been suggested that, should the occasion arise, the Dominion government will take such steps as may be necessary to protect the solvency of any provincial government. We are of opinion that this is not for us to say. All we can suggest is that the demand for its immediate creation is imperative if we wish to avoid the disgrace of having the control of the affairs of the province pass into the hands of its creditors.

The report is signed by George Kidd, W. L. Macken, Austin Taylor, A. H. Douglas and R. W. Mayhew.

DOLLAR FIRM ON EXCHANGE

Canadian Press
New York, Aug. 30.—The Canadian dollar closed steady at 80 1/2 cents on the local foreign exchange market to-day, unchanged from yesterday's close, after a gain to 81 1/2 during the day. The pound sterling closed between $2.47 1/2 and $2.47 1/2, compared with yesterday's figure of $2.47.

R. KNISTER IS DROWNED

Canadian Press
Windsor, Ont., Aug. 30.—Raymond Knister, thirty-two, of Toronto, was drowned near Stony Point in Lake St. Clair late yesterday. Knister was swimming and it is believed suffered a heart attack. He was a son of the late Robert Knister and widely known as a writer.

WIDELY KNOWN
Toronto, Aug. 30.—Raymond Knister, drowned at Windsor yesterday, was one of Canada's most promising prose writers. A writer of short stories, which are found in many modern collections, he edited a representative volume, "Canadian Short Stories."

He wrote two novels, "White Narcissus" and "My Star Triumphant," a novelized life of Shelley, which won the $2,500 prize offered by an Ottawa publishing firm in 1931.

HITLER TROOPER SHOT TO DEATH

Non-partizan Committee Proposes Eight Departments of Government Be Cut to Five by Abolitions and Mergers and Legislature Be Reduced From Forty-eight to Twenty-eight; Recommends Abolition of B.C. House in London; Provincial Police, Liquor Warehouses, Victoria, Elk Lake Farm; Liquor Law Enforcement Branch and No Free Education After Fourteen Years of Age

DISCONTINUE P.G.E. AT ONCE AND SLASH SALARIES AND STAFFS ALL THROUGH SERVICE, REPORT STATES

NOTABLE REPORT BEARS HIS NAME

chairman of the committee which has been investigating affairs under the British Columbia Government and to-day has issued its report and recommendations.

Political Patronage and Self Interest Blamed By Committee Declaring Reform and Economy Have Been Required For Many Years. Strict Supervision of Purchasing and Expenditures With Lieutenant-Governor As Restraining Influence Proposed

Reduction of government departments by elimination and mergers to five, reduction of the Executive Council from eleven to six, and the representation on the Legislature from forty-eight to twenty-eight; abandonment of many government services, salary reductions for civil servants and teachers, and further reductions in the number of civil servants are outstanding in sweeping recommendations in the outspoken report of the Kidd committee made public to-day. Calling of a special session immediately to put the recommendations into effect is proposed.

Among economies the committee anticipates by the changes it recommends are $2,000,000 in education, $20,000 by reduction of the Executive Council, a considerable sum of the $114,500 annual cost of the Legislative Assembly costs, $750,000 by government payroll cut, $200,000 by reduction of government agencies, $95,000 a year by closing British Columbia House and markets board in London, $40,000 by reorganization to eliminate prosecuting counsel, $198,000 in Department of Agriculture, $85,000 Department of Mines. While these economies approach the $3,500,000 mark, they by no means represent the total economies planned, as many others are recommended without figures on the anticipated saving being given. Expenditures must be reduced by $6,000,000, the report says, expressing the hope the report will serve as a useful guide to this end.

The proposed five new departments suggested with permanent deputies for each would be Departments of Finance, Attorney-General, Social Services, Public Works and Natural Resources. The Department of Mines and Labor, Department of Education, Provincial Secretary and Commissioner of Fisheries, Department of Railways and Department of Lands would be absorbed in other departments.

PARTY SYSTEM IN PUBLIC WORKS
"The influence of the party system is illustrated with startling significance by the expenditures on public works which include the construction and maintenance of highways, roads, bridges, ferries, wharves and public buildings," the report says, presenting a table showing how public works expenditures have risen from $4,037,997 in 1922 to $11,513,475 in 1930 and $13,470,500 in 1931.

"These figures are certainly amazing, especially those for 1931, when, in spite of the accumulating severity of the depression, it was decided to double the average expenditure of the preceding nine years," the report continues. "We have searched in vain for any comprehensive plan or satisfactory reason for this enormous outlay. It cannot possibly be attributed to the requirements of an increasing population, as in the rural districts where the major portion of the money was (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

Highlights of Kidd Report

Have five departments of government instead of eight with permanent deputies for each department.

PRESENT DEPARTMENTS	RECOMMENDED DEPARTMENTS
Finance	Finance
Agriculture	Attorney-General
Attorney-General	Social Services
Education	Natural Resources
Lands	Public Works
Mines and Labor
Public Works
Provincial Secretary and Fisheries

Reduction from 48 to 28 in number of members of Legislature, adopting Dominion electoral ridings with two provincial members elected for each riding. Estimated to save nearly half in present $114,500 Legislative Assembly cost.

Calling of special session at once to put legislative reduction and other recommendations into effect.

Reduction of Executive Council from eleven to six, to effect $30,000 salary saving on present amount of $60,720.

Merge Agriculture, Lands and Mines Departments into one new department called Department of Natural Resources.

Merge Education Department work and Institutional and Social Service work of Provincial Secretary's office into one new department called Social Service Department, with Deputy Provincial Secretary attached to Premier's office to discharge duties not taken over by new department.

Merge Department of Labor now operated under Minister of Mines with Attorney-General's Department.

Cut of $750,000 per annum in government payroll by considerable reduction in government employees with further reduction in pay for those retained. All permanent employees to be under civil service classification.

Closing of liquor warehouse in Victoria and Vancouver on grounds they are duplication of staff and stock, centring liquor wholesale activities at the terminals in New Westminster.

"We recommend the activities of the Department of Railways, which are largely concerned with the Fraser River Bridge, be transferred to the Department of Public Works."

In the Pacific Great Eastern Railway the committee finds the government of the province now has sunk a total of $68,344,148, which is set down as "irrecoverable." There is a record of ten years of unbroken deficits.

Therefore, it is recommended no more capital expenditures or betterments be made to the line, every effort be made to sell it on terms that will not add to liabilities already incurred, and unless such disposition of the railway can be made within nine months, its operation be discontinued.

Merge Fisheries Commissioner duties into Department of Finance. (Turn to Page 9, Col. 1)

New Canadian Legation Building In Tokyo Is Suggested

MARLER SOON TO RETURN TO JAPAN

Ottawa Government Considering Proposal Canada Erect Building in Tokyo

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 30.—Construction of a Canadian Legation building in Tokyo has been suggested to the Dominion Government. The proposal for improved accommodation under government consideration, it is learned, but no decision has been reached.

Two points are expected to influence the government in deciding on the proposal, and to these elements the administration will give most careful examination. The first is the urgency of the necessity for the building. The second is whether or not the time is opportune.

At present the legation has leased offices in Tokyo. Representations are said to have been made to the government that the present facilities do not meet requirements.

Bennett To-day Calgary Visitor

Canadian Press
Calgary, Aug. 30.—Accompanied by his sister, Mrs. W. D. Hédrige, Premier Bennett arrived in Calgary today to attend the convention of the Canadian Bar Association.

It was a social day for the Prime Minister, who spent the greater part of it receiving old friends and advance delegates to the convention, which will be opened officially to-morrow morning.

This evening Mr. Bennett will attend an informal dinner given by the president of the Bar Association, Louis St. Laurent, K.C., of Quebec City.

While here it is probable Mr. Bennett will receive representatives of the western provinces to discuss the unemployment situation and relief plans.

On Monday Earl and Countess Beesborough will board H.M.C.S. Skeena at Esquimalt and will enjoy a short cruise along the coast of Vancouver Island.

QUEBEC HAS YEAR'S DEFICIT

Sale of liquors, wines and beers fell off considerably, with the result that several more millions were lost in that department of revenue.

EXPENDITURES CUT

Alongside the heavy reductions in income are placed substantial decreases in expenditures. The statement indicates a period of careful economy during the twelve months.

Increased taxes also served to keep the deficit small.

Ordinary expenditures during the last fiscal year amounted to $37,525,728.97 and ordinary revenues for the same period to $36,941,020.00. During the preceding year the expenditures were $40,853,844.58 and revenue $41,630,620.26, a surplus of $776,775.67. Revenues in 1931 therefore decreased by more than $4,800,000. Expenditures were decreased by $3,328,115.62.

There was an increase in revenue from the gasoline tax of $700,000 and in the federal subsidy of $336,000, but the following decreases were reported: Succession duties, $2,876,424.60; liquor, $1,500,000; lands and forests, $982,263.09; mines, $273,819.15; automobile—$1,844,840.87; liquor commission permits, $132,611.

FIRST IN THIRTY-FIVE YEARS

Quebec, Aug. 30.—L'Evenement, French language daily, to-day forecasting a Quebec province deficit statement, said:

"The province of Quebec closed the last fiscal year with a deficit of $584,708."

"As this deficit is the first in thirty-five years, Mr. Taschereau will attach to the province's financial statement personal comments in which he will explain the reasons for the deficit which is economically sound."

PLACER MINER ENDS LIFE

Okanagan, Aug. 30.—No motive has been found for the suicide yesterday of Jerry Murphy, fifty-seven-year-old Brewster placer miner. He was found dead, clothed only in shoes and underwear, by his mine in a mining venture, Henry Bertram of Brewster.

Murphy had arisen during the night, put on his shoes and, taking a small rifle, had gone several yards from camp and shot himself.

ing their young people to the institution. The Bureau of fund and scholarship funds, it was pointed out, were used to help needy and worthy students to get their college training.

Many of the investments were in Dominion of Canada National Service bonds, which have disappeared completely, it has been learned.

COMMITTEE NAMED

A special committee of six has been appointed to assume full responsibility in connection with the present audit of trusts, endowments, etc., of St. John's College and School and it will co-operate with the main committee looking into condition of all church funds.

The committee of six is composed of: E. K. Williams, K.C.; W. J. Tupper, K.C.; H. B. Lyall, H. B. Shaw, W. P. White and A. J. Maynard.

Auditors to-day were completing a check of the widows' and orphans' fund. Pensions have been provided out of that fund for widows and orphans of clergymen. Heavy inroads into the fund have been made, according to reports.

MORTGAGE DIFFICULTIES

It has not been stated how the moneys in the church and university endowment funds disappeared. Auditing members of the board of governors of the university believe the chief conversion of funds was to protect mortgage investments which had gone bad.

The Anglican ecclesiastical province of Rupert's Land includes the three prairie provinces, the Northwest Territories and the Yukon.

FOUNDED IN 1822
St. John's College and School were started by John West, chaplain of the Hudson's Bay Company and first missionary of the Church Missionary Society in the Red River settlement in 1822 and were known as the Red River Academy. Under John Macaulay, headmaster, the institution carried on the traditions of English public schools.

He died in 1844 and was succeeded by Bishop Anderson, who changed the name to St. John's College and introduced theological studies to train young men for missionary work. Owing to shortage of funds, the school was closed in 1866 for ten years. Archbishop Machray reopened it in the fall of 1855 and it has continued to grow steadily with the city and the prairies since that time.

STRIKE SPREADING IN LANCA SHIRE

No Move For Peace By Cotton Mill Operators. Or Their Idle Working Forces

Canadian Press
Manchester, Eng., Aug. 30.—Some estimates of the extent of the Lancashire cotton strike ran as high as ninety per cent to-day as the ranks of strikers increased due to intensive picketing at operating mills.

In their efforts to make the walkout 100 per cent among the 200,000 weavers in the manufacturing section of the industry, the union leaders asserted that by to-morrow northeast Lancashire would show a united front.

In some quarters the strike was characterized as "half-hearted and not successful," but the consensus appeared to be it was generally a success.

Although no serious disturbances had occurred, several threatening situations brought out mounted police to-day. A minor clash came at Barnoldswick, where 200 strikers hooded and taunted 200 workers leaving mills. A demonstration developed until sixty police arrived and charged the crowds with their truncheons. Extra police were rushed to the town and the streets were patrolled.

GOVERNMENT ACTION URGED
The Manchester Guardian editorially said the first day of the strike had established the strength of trade union loyalty. "But to what end?" asked the paper.

"The demonstration of union strength is of no use unless it leads somewhere. There is no sign of employers being disposed to surrender to force."

"There seems nothing to look forward to except an indefinite continuance of the stoppage until someone makes a move to settle it."

The paper urged the government to act.

Employers decided to-day at a two-hour meeting of the Cotton Spinners' and Manufacturers' Association to maintain their present attitude and make no new move toward peace.

MATTER FOR COMPROMISE
The call for government intervention grew to-day with Sir Kenneth Stewart, former chairman of the Lancashire Cotton Corporation, declaring the strike must be taken sooner or later. "And the sooner the better," he added.

Sir Kenneth said it was not a case of one side being right and the other wrong. "Both sides are in a bad way," he said. "It is a matter for compromise, and the government alone is qualified to arrange it. The stoppage in the whole industry needs overhauling and there are too many contending factions on both sides."

From another quarter came a similar suggestion. Joseph Compston, former Labor member of Parliament for the Manchester cotton division, who holds great influence among the mill-owners, said the strike is a case of Lancashire people looking to the ministers to attempt a settlement of this ruinous unemployment.

Despite the demands for intervention, Sir Henry Betterton, Minister of Labor, maintained official silence in view of the hope the convention on the part of employers and employees.

Baron Uchida assured another questioner the government has no intention of restoring the Kwantung leased territory, which includes Dairen and Port Arthur, to Manchukuo, following recognition of the Changchun regime.

A member asked whether the Japanese army would not use the "right of self-defence" to solve the problem of Jehol. He was informed that in view of the international relations involved the Japanese army had no intention of taking any drastic action in Jehol in the near future, but that Manchukuo might use its own forces to protect its own interests in Jehol (a province lying between Manchukuo and China proper).

ENGINEERS IN CONVENTION
Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 30.—The quotation, "I am alive unto myself," was particularly applicable to the engineering profession, for it was only through the interchange of knowledge that engineers had been able to accomplish what they had in the past, declared W. G. Murrin, president of the British Columbia Electric Railway, in an address of welcome to the Pacific Coast convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in the Hotel Vancouver to-day. Attended by delegates from as far south as Los Angeles, the convention will continue until Friday evening.

Mr. Murrin addressed his remarks particularly to those from south of the line, welcoming them to Vancouver on behalf of his fellow members and expressing the hope the convention would be an outstanding success.

The speaker declared he was especially pleased to welcome such well-known electrical engineers as a president of the Institute, H. P. Charlesworth of New York; A. W. Copley, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, San Francisco; C. E. Higson, Utah Power and Light Company, Salt Lake City; and L. B. Chubbuck, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, Hamilton.

tion." Frau Zetkin said in her opening address.

"Political power for the moment has been seized by a presidential cabinet formed by the elimination of the Junker government of Chancellor Franz von Papen."

The President agreed to get his signature on emergency decrees that would carry the government's economic and financial measures so as to put them into operation. But he instructed the Chancellor to execute these decrees in such a way as to make sure the proper standard of life would be guaranteed to Germany's workers.

Regarding Von Papen's report on the political situation, the communists said:

"A detailed discussion of the political situation resulted in a complete accord between the Reich President and the Reich government."

This put Hindenburg's stamp of approval on the Chancellor's refusal to admit Hitler's National Socialists into the government at this time.

CALLS FOR STRIKES
A proletarian revolution, the aged communist said, would be the means for overcoming the economic crisis. She urged strikes and uprisings in various countries to show the revolutionary leadership in Germany they were not alone.

Her forty-five minute speech ended with this passage:

"I open the Reichstag in fulfillment of my duty as senior president. I hope to live to see the happy day when as senior president I can open the first congress of the peasants' congress of Soviet Germany."

NO PROTEST
Even when impeachment of the president was demanded by her the House remained silent in a manner almost incredible. Nobody rose in protest.

Meanwhile, outside the Reichstag building about a block away, crowds of Hitler's Nazis were yelling in chorus: "Germany, awake and defend itself!"

Adolf Hitler's speech the Reichstag proceeded with a roll call.

ISOLATED BODIES
Isolated bodies of Nazis broke through police lines at various points and attempted to rush the Reichstag entrance. They were repulsed by police reinforcements. Police said there were no casualties.

Meanwhile the Reichstag went on with its business.

The Nazis nominated Hermann Wilhelm Goering for Speaker. He was elected shortly afterwards.

Goering, a captain in the Great War, said the "right hand man in the beer cellar putch" of 1923, was wounded in that escapade and fled the country to escape imprisonment. He has sat in the Reichstag since 1928.

APPROVED BY HINDENBURG
Berlin, Aug. 30.—Backed by the unanimous approval of President Hindenburg, Chancellor von Papen's government went before the new Reichstag to-day with defiance for the opposition, the bulk of it led by Adolf Hitler.

The president, in a statement issued three hours before the Reichstag assembled, announced his complete approval of the government's program and said he was ready to issue the emergency decrees to put the program into operation.

By this decision the Reichstag was told in effect that disapproval of the cabinet's course would mean certain dissolution. Once more it appeared the ageing field marshal had said the last word and no combination of opposition parties could turn the government from its path.

It was a little past 3 o'clock when Clara Zetkin, communist and seventy-five-year-old grandmother of the German revolution, mounted the rostrum as speaker pro tem and opened the session of the Reichstag, presiding until a president could be elected. The National Socialists and their allies had objected strenuously for several days to her selection, characterizing her presence in the chair as an insult to the nation.

CHANCELLOR NOT THERE
Chancellor Franz von Papen, with his Minister of Defence, Gen. Kurt von Schleicher; his Interior Minister, Baron Wilhelm von Geyl, and the presidential secretary, Otto Meissner, were not in Berlin for the opening. They were at Neudeck, where they had sought and obtained approval of President Hindenburg for the government's reconstruction plans and policies, announced two days ago.

Von Papen's refusal to permit the powerful fascist leader, Adolf Hitler, to participate in the government was followed by the 250 Nazi members of the Reich taking their oath, which contained a pledge to take orders from Hitler alone. This is contrary to the German constitution.

MANY POLICE ON DUTY
To-day, Berlin fairly bristled with police, ready for any emergency.

The Landtag, or Prussian Diet, also assembled to-day, with the ministerial benches empty.

The speaker gave the floor first to Heinrich Hirtzler, Acting Premier when the federal government ejected the Prussian cabinet from office. Hirtzler charged the federal government had acted unconstitutionally. The present federal commission, headed by Franz Bracht, already had indicated it regarded the Diet as little more than a dummy organization.

Herr Bracht said the other day he regarded himself responsible only to the president.

BREACH WIDENS
Yesterday, on the eve of the opening of the new Reichstag, Chancellor von Papen flatly told Adolf Hitler he could not take a hand in the government of Germany, and Hitler replied in kind yesterday evening.

After the National Socialist chief-tain had lunched with the Chancellor and Kurt von Schleicher, Minister of Defence, the Associated Press learned the former had been told it was too late to consider his proposals for a seat in the cabinet.

In a spirited address to the 230 National Socialist members of the Reichstag, by far the strongest bloc, the fascist leader yesterday evening indicated the breach between him and Von Papen had widened to a point where he could not possibly support or tolerate the present government.

sentences imposed on five of his party's adherents for a political slaying, Hitler said:

"So long as the government makes Beethoven's Nazis cannot support it. To me it is not understandable why five Nazis should be placed under the knife because of one Polish insurgent who fought against our brothers in Silesia."

IN COMPLETE ACCORD
Neudeck, East Prussia, Germany, Aug. 30.—President Paul von Hindenburg to-day announced his "complete accord" with the economic programme and further political course of the Junker government of Chancellor Franz von Papen.

The President agreed to get his signature on emergency decrees that would carry the government's economic and financial measures so as to put them into operation. But he instructed the Chancellor to execute these decrees in such a way as to make sure the proper standard of life would be guaranteed to Germany's workers.

Regarding Von Papen's report on the political situation, the communists said:

"A detailed discussion of the political situation resulted in a complete accord between the Reich President and the Reich government."

This put Hindenburg's stamp of approval on the Chancellor's refusal to admit Hitler's National Socialists into the government at this time.

MOVE TO BREAK UP PRODUCE BLOCKADE

Mayor of Omaha, Nebraska, Says Farmers Must Not Keep Back Milk and Other Supplies From Citizens

Associated Press
Omaha, Neb., Aug. 30.—Mayor R. L. Metcalfe of Omaha to-day ordered city officials to break up the blockade established just outside the city limits by farm holiday strikers yesterday evening. A blockade against milk and fresh farm produce, the mayor ruled, was a health matter.

EXTENSION EFFORTS
Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 30.—While sheriffs were adding to their forces of deputies and county attorneys were preparing for grand jury investigations—both steps designed to end picketing—leaders of the farmers' holiday movement, seeking higher prices for produce, to-day were endeavoring to extend their lines.

At Des Moines law enforcement officials began a new drive to prevent further violence, following a flare-up in which special deputies were injured.

The officers were hurt in a clash with picketing farmers near Cushing, Iowa, yesterday evening. A running fight between the farmers and fifty officers occurred while the deputies were escorting five truck loads of hogs to the Ida County line.

STATE AID ASKED
Meanwhile the Chamber of Commerce at Sioux City, one of the strategic points in the farmers' holiday movement, asked that state aid come from Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska to put an end to the strike.

Conditions in the Sioux City area were described by the chamber as "intolerable," and it added local authorities were unable to cope with the situation. No action was taken.

A union of farm co-operatives of fifteen states, designed to increase farm commodity prices, will be proposed at the governors' conference in Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 9, by Governor Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota. Under Governor Olson's plan, all co-operatives would select an executive committee to determine a fair price scale for farm commodities of all classes. Then members of the co-operatives would be called on to withhold their products until there was a market based on that price level.

A survey of markets in Iowa and nearby border cities indicated a tendency toward slightly lower prices for farm produce with normal receipts at many points and increases at some.

for approximately 100 seconds, conditions will be slightly different from those in Victoria. Not only will the whole face of the sun be covered up but observers will see the famous Bailey's beads and the corona. Bailey's beads are witnessed as the last-vanishing silver of the sun's crescent breaks up into a series of bright spots, caused by the sunlight shining through valleys on the edge of the moon, while adjacent lunar peaks already have passed the edge of the solar disc. The beads last only a few seconds, and then, completely eclipsing the dark disc of the moon, now visible in its entirety, there flashes into view the magnificent corona of the sun, shining with a pale greenish light about half as brilliant as the full moon.

OBSERVING THE ECLIPSE
In order to help people observe the eclipse, F. Napier Dennison, Superintendent of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory at Gonzales Heights, announced this morning that the five-inch telescope at the observatory would be used to-morrow to project the sun's image on a white screen. The image on the screen will show what is happening without the use of smoked glasses. Mr. Dennison said the observatory would be open to the public to-morrow. The best time to view the eclipse will be from 10.30 until about 11.30.

For those people unable to go to the observatory to see the eclipse smoked glasses can be used to watch the sun. Exposed photographic film can also be used to protect the observer's eyes from the glare of the solar body.

Those people possessing a telescope or field glasses should not try to look at the sun with it. If the glasses or telescope are set up on a stand a piece of white cardboard or paper held behind the eyepiece will give a good image of the sun. Focusing may be done by moving the paper or cardboard until it is in the right position.

Photography will play an important part to-morrow both in the path of totality and here. A still camera on a tripod will record the various phases of the eclipse by snapping, without changing plates or film, at ten-minute intervals. The speed of the exposure should be slowed down as much as possible.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Aug. 30.—Miss Lila Jones, a school teacher, was hacked to death by Morris Green, twenty-two, when she refused his advances. Sheriff V. L. Brown to-day stated the attack was made when Green found Miss Jones alone at her parents' farm when he went there to borrow a tool kit.

IRISH HOPE TO END DEADLOCK

British Trade Blockade May Be Eased; Lemass Home From Ottawa Conference

Canadian Press
Dublin, Aug. 30.—On the arrival of the Irish Free State delegation to-day from the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa Sean Lemass, Minister of Industry and Commerce, stated the Free State would obtain the same tariff preferences from Canada as far as the United Kingdom.

Mr. Lemass stated the Free State would also have a preference from South Africa and negotiations were still going on with Australia in connection with which Rt. Hon. Stanley M. Bruce or another representative of the Commonwealth would visit Dublin.

Associated Press
Dublin, Irish Free State, Aug. 30.—Sean O'Kelly, Vice-president of the Free State Executive Council, returned from the Ottawa Imperial Economic Conference to-day optimistic over the prospects of breaking the Anglo-Irish trade deadlock.

Although he did not go into his reasons, the Vice-president said: "There is definitely more hope than before the Ottawa conference. I am sure the British understand our position thoroughly now."

Mr. O'Kelly said he would report immediately to President Eamon de Valera.

ASK RECEIVER FOR S. W. STRAUS

$300,000,000 Realty Bonds Marketed By House Said to Be in Default

Fraud on Public Alleged; State Seeks Injunction on Sale of Firm's Securities

New York, Aug. 30.—Justice John H. McCooey Jr. signed an order in Brooklyn Supreme Court requiring S. W. Straus and Company Inc. to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed and a temporary injunction issued restraining the corporation from the sale of securities except under certain restrictions. The order was asked by State Attorney-General John J. Bennett Jr. and is returnable to-morrow morning in Special Term, Part I, Brooklyn Supreme Court.

S. W. Straus and Company Inc. is one of the largest houses specializing in real estate mortgage bonds. Deputy Attorney-General Lazarus Joseph, who signed the affidavit in the proceedings, alleges that misrepresentation and fraud were used in the sale of securities to the public. In announcing the action, Mr. Joseph estimated that in the last fifty years the public had bought more than $1,000,000,000 worth of Straus bonds and that at present $300,000,000 of these were in default.

CHAIRMAN DENIES CHARGES
S. J. T. Straus, chairman of the board of S. W. Straus and Company Inc., issued a statement last night characterizing the allegations filed by the Attorney-General's office as "not true."

"Referring to the proceeding to-day filed by the Attorney-General of the State of New York, S. W. Straus and Company has been in business for half a century and during that entire time has conducted its business upon the highest ethical lines. The material allegations contained in the Attorney-General's petition are not true and it is unfortunate that the facts were not truly represented to him. Needless to say, the petition will be vigorously contested."

"The company's officials are confident that, after a full and fair day in court, it will be found that the company's course of business deserves credit rather than censure and that the restrictions upon its future business suggested in the petition are both impracticable and unnecessary and would be seriously detrimental to the interests of the company's customers."

The injunction is sought not only against S. W. Straus and Company Inc. but also against S. W. Straus and Co., Samuel J. Tilden Straus, chairman of the board; Nicholas Roberts, president; William R. Miller, treasurer; Harry R. Amott and John L. Laun, directors; and John S. Reitenbaugh, former sales manager.

The investigation resulting in the application for the receiver was begun several months ago by Second Assistant State Attorney-General William J. Mahon, in charge of the Attorney-General's office in New York City. Mr. Joseph, who was in charge of the recent New York City Airport investigation, assisted by Deputy Attorney-General Saul Rosenfeld, questioned the witnesses in the proceedings.

CONCERN'S PRACTICES OUTLINED
In his affidavit Mr. Joseph stresses several practices of S. W. Straus and Company which resulted in the present action. He said that after 1924 the Straus organization began to sell bonds against general mortgages, which Mr. Joseph characterized as a deceptive tactic. These securities were second, third and fourth mortgages, he added, citing instances in which the Straus organization also sold bonds against leaseholds.

Mr. Joseph averred that in buying these general mortgages, the public believed it was getting first mortgages. He also said S. W. Straus and Company had sold bonds against properties, the taxes of which were in default, "interest had not been paid and amortization and principal had not been taken care of."

Customers and prospective purchasers of Straus bonds were not told of this situation unless they specifically requested the information, he declared. In his affidavit he reprinted many samples of the Straus literature used in the period from 1926 to 1929, which in substance characterized the Straus bonds as absolutely safe.

Mr. Joseph, commenting on the action yesterday afternoon, declared he had letters and verbal complaints of purchasers of Straus bonds who said they had lost $500,000. He said many letters of complaint sent to Governor Roosevelt had been forwarded to Attorney-General Bennett for investigation and action.

One of the conditions proposed in the order would require the Straus concern to make complete disclosures to its customers of the true value of the properties against which it sells bonds. Mr. Joseph said that had not been done in the past.

ASTRONOMERS IN CONVERSION GROUPS FOR EVENT

Unprecedented Variety of Instruments Set Up in Quebec Province and New England States For To-morrow

By Howard W. Blakeslee, Associated Press Science Editor

Conway, N.H., Aug. 30.—About 200 astronomers are lining up in 350-mile paths running from Montreal to the Maine coast to answer the question "what does an eclipse mean?" They will view the total eclipse of the sun which will come down from near the North Pole across Hudson Bay, eastern Quebec province and New England to-morrow afternoon. The sun will be blotted out for 100 seconds in Quebec and about ninety in Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, a corner of Massachusetts and Cape Cod.

Airplanes will fly aloft in the shadow as high as five miles. At least three of the scientific expeditions have arranged for observations from planes. Broadcasters will meet the shadow well northward in Quebec and describe its passage second by second.

The expeditions total forty-three, mostly from the United States, with a few from Europe and one from Japan. WEATHERMEN HOPEFUL

Virtually all of the great money expenditure will be total loss if clouds obscure the sun.

The astronomers have set up a greater variety of instruments than ever before "shot" at an eclipse.

Outside the area of totality there will be a partial eclipse in every part of Canada and the United States. In the east the sun will be reduced to a crescent thin enough to change the color of daylight and bring a slight coolness to the air. From Midwest to the Pacific Coast an eclipse will be something to be looked at through smoked glasses.

NANAIMO FIRE LOSSES HEAVY

Underwriters Refuse City Cheaper Insurance

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, B.C., Aug. 30.—The Fire Underwriters' Association yesterday evening notified the council that they could not make any reduction in insurance rates for Nanaimo as the city's per capita loss was $4.58 compared with $4.25 for the entire Dominion of Canada for both protected and unprotected places. This comparison did not show Nanaimo in a favorable position.

Dr. H. E. Young, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, wrote that the Brechin fire reduction plan had been arranged with the city's per capita loss was $4.58 compared with $4.25 for the entire Dominion of Canada for both protected and unprotected places.

A resolution from the Duncan City Council, regarding reduction of mothers' pensions, was received and filed. All arrangements had been made for the Governor-General's visit here on Thursday, Mayor Barsby informed the council.

The city engineer reported Millstream Bridge had been closed for repairs.

STRONG WIND IN FLORIDA

But Storm Falls Short of Hurricane Proportions; Crops Damaged

Associated Press
Miami, Fla., Aug. 30.—The tropical storm which blew in from the Bahamas yesterday was reported coursing across the sparsely inhabited Everglades of the southern Florida peninsula to-day, leaving behind comparatively superficial damage. On advice of the Washington Weather Bureau, however, hurricane warnings remained up all night from Palm Beach southward on the east coast. Efforts to remove the red letters with turpentine yesterday succeeded only in making them slightly less distinct.

The storm was committed at the week-end.

HOUSE BOMBED IN PORTLAND

Associated Press
Portland, Ore., Aug. 30.—A large bomb exploded in the stairway of a Fourth Street rooming house, jarred downtown Portland shortly before dawn yesterday, breaking out windows across the street and wrecking a poolroom. The identity of the bomber and the cause of the attack were not known to police, who said the rooming house was a disorderly resort.

A hole 12 by 15 feet in size was torn in one wall of the poolroom on the first floor of the hotel.

A girl and a porter at the rooming house said that shortly before the explosion occurred a man walked up the stairway carrying a bundle wrapped in newspaper. When he saw them he excused himself, muttering "This is my place" and went downstairs.

SALUTE FOR MUSSOLINI
Rome, Aug. 30.—Hereafter the shouted Fascist salute will be reserved for Premier Mussolini alone. All others must be content with the Roman salute of the upraised arm, which may be given only while standing. These regulations were made by Achille Starace, secretary of the Fascist Party, "to maintain the dignity of the Fascist customs."

MOVE FAILS TO STOP INQUIRY

Judge Rules Roosevelt's Questioning of Mayor of New York Legal

JUSTICE E. J. STALEY

Associated Press
Albany N.Y., Aug. 30.—A state Supreme Court justice yesterday turned down James J. Walker's plea for a court order to stop Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt from acting on the demands for ousting of the New York mayor.

The justice, Ellis J. Staley, ruled that "the mayor of the state is immune from interference by judicial process and free from judicial control in his performance of executive duties."

The governor, said the opinion of the justice, also had acted upon the legal rights in giving a hearing to the charges against the mayor.

CROSS EXAMINATION
Justice Staley, who on several previous occasions had been called to rule in cases involving the fundamentals of New York's constitution, held, however, "the requirements for a fair trial and the provisions of section 34 of the Public Officers' law do not constitute, in my judgment, the wholesale receipt and use of testimony taken by an investigating committee, where the accused officer has not been represented by counsel or afforded the opportunity for cross-examination."

John J. Curtin, Mayor Walker's attorney, said this upheld one of his major contentions before the Governor Roosevelt and before the court.

Mayor Walker and Curtin demanded of the governor that the witnesses before the committee of the Legislature which investigated the Tammany mayor's administration and on whose testimony the charges to the governor were based should be produced for cross-examination before the court.

Two other contentions of Mayor Walker also were upheld in the 3,000-word opinion—that removal must be based on acts while the mayor was in office and that they must relate to official acts.

PAUSE IN INQUIRY
The grind of the long days and evenings of hearings at the capitol was interrupted yesterday by the death at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., of Mayor Walker's brother, George Walker. Governor Roosevelt announced the hearing would be postponed until Friday, and that an evening session would be held.

TOMB OF GRANT IS DISFIGURED

Associated Press
New York, Aug. 30.—The wall of the tomb of General Grant here was made a blackboard on which was smeared in four-inch letters of red paint this couplet:

"The good but starve; the order of the day
Is prey on others or become a prey."

George B. Burnside, custodian of the tomb, described the vandalism as "the most distasteful occurrence since the tomb was built." Efforts to remove the red letters with turpentine yesterday succeeded only in making them slightly less distinct.

The offence was committed at the week-end.

Royal City Gets Provincial Grant

Canadian Press
New Westminster, Aug. 30.—The provincial government has offered to contribute $25,000 toward the cost of the Columbia Street diversion, Mayor A. W. Gray, M.P.P., reported to the city council yesterday. He presented a letter to the council from Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, and Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, authorizing this payment.

This grant is in addition to the $35,000 grant from the Dominion government to abolish the level crossing on Twelfth Street near Columbia Street. The city's share of the project will be about $40,000.

HOGS TO PAY COLLEGE FEES

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 30.—Illinois Wesleyan University will accept cattle, hogs, grain or other farm produce in exchange for tuition this fall, according to President H. W. McPherson.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT LAUNCHES SCHEME FOR TREASURY BONDS

Totaling £153,222,376

Canadian Press
London, Aug. 30.—Encouraged by the success of the conversion of the 3 per cent war loans to a lower rate, the government will announce to-night a scheme to convert treasury bonds totaling £153,222,376 in a similar manner.

The financing will involve the 4½ per cent treasuries, series 1923-34, and the 4½ war loans, series 1923-49. Details of the plan, including the amount by which the interest will be scaled down, will be issued this evening in The London Gazette.

It is believed the scheme will be along the same lines as the one converting the 5 per cent war loan bonds, which effected a saving of £1,500,000 in interest annually by reducing the rate to 3½ per cent.

COURTENAY MAN DEAD IN CRASH

G. L. Van Hemert Killed When Car Left Highway Near Everett

Courtenay, Aug. 30.—George L. Van Hemert was killed in an automobile accident near Everett on Saturday, when a car driven by W. T. Knowles of Everett plunged down a sixty-foot embankment. The driver of the car suffered few injuries but a Mrs. Malcolm Scott of Forks, had a broken leg and her two daughters each had broken arms.

Mr. Van Hemert was manager of the K. and E. Pole Company and had lived here for several years with his wife and boys.

LONDON REPAYS FRENCH LOANS

After September 10 Britain Will Have Cleared Up Foreign Credits

Canadian Press
London, Aug. 30.—With the repayment of 2,500,000,000 francs to France on September 10, the United Kingdom will have repaid in full the entire amount of foreign credits obtained by the treasury in the financial crisis of September 1931.

The credits totaled $200,000,000 from the United States and 2,500,000,000 francs from France, of which half was advanced by banks and the remainder subscribed by the French public in the form of bonds.

The whole of the United States credit was repaid by the treasury in March and April, with the right to re-borrow 50,000,000,000 francs at any time up to August 28. This right, not having been exercised, will now finally lapse.

The portion of the French credit granted by the banks was repaid in March with the right to re-borrow at any time up to September 10. Not only will this right be allowed to lapse, but the remaining 2,500,000,000 francs will be repaid on the date due, thereby finally extinguishing both credits.

PROBLEMS SOLVED BY DOUKHOBORS

Canadian Press
Prince Albert, Sask., Aug. 30.—Canada's Doukhobors have solved their financial and internal difficulties, at least temporarily, according to J. P. Shukin, Brilliant, B.C., vice-president of the community organization, who made a statement yesterday following week-end conferences. Arrangements had been made, he announced, for the brotherhood to meet all its obligations this year and to finance its operations for the year.

In addition, Peter Verigin, jailed leader, had agreed to abide by the decision of the director not to accept his resignation. Shukin said that along with himself, W. P. Reibin, Brilliant, B.C., secretary-treasurer, also would remain in office.

The officials of the organization, including the two Brilliant men, left for their homes.

NEW TURN IN CHAPLIN SUIT

Associated Press
Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 30.—An appellate court order restraining Superior Judge H. P. Wood from continuing the hearing of Charles Chaplain's suit against his former wife, Lita Gray Chaplain, seeking to prohibit her from allowing their two young sons to enter motion picture careers, was issued yesterday by Judge Carvin Craig.

The writ of prohibition obtained by Mrs. Chaplain's attorney was made returnable September 8 and claimed the superior court had no jurisdiction in the case. It also claimed Mrs. Chaplain had not been served properly with papers.

COMPANY SOUND, DECLARES HEAD

Toronto, Aug. 30.—The United Cigar Stores of Canada Limited, an entirely separate and distinct organization, is in no way affected by the filing of a petition in bankruptcy yesterday by the United Cigar Stores of America, F. C. Pitney, president of the Canadian company, said here.

Mr. Pitney said he was surprised at the news concerning the United States company, and added it was "unfortunate" the names of the two organizations were similar.

THEIR FIRST VISIT

ON THEIR FIRST VISIT TO WESTERN Canada Victoria is heartily welcoming the Governor-General, the Earl of Bessborough, and his charming consort. They are to spend a week on the Island altogether, and all will hope the weather man will be kind and that their first visit to this city will enable them to take many pleasant memories back with them to Rideau Hall.

Unlike most of those who have represented the King in Canada, the present Governor-General is essentially a man of business; but he also is a man of many other parts. He was called to the Bar at the Inner Temple in 1903. For seven years he was a member of the House of Commons and he also served a term on the London County Council. From 1924 to 1931 he filled the post of deputy-chairman of the De Beers Consolidated Mines Limited, and chairman of the San Paulo (Brazilian) Railway Limited from 1921 until he assumed his present duties at Ottawa.

It will be readily understood, therefore, that the Earl of Bessborough will view Western Canada from more standpoints than the one which is required by the obligations of his office. We may be sure he will be especially interested in the industrial and other possibilities of the part of the Dominion which he is seeing for the first time. There is much to engage his attention and we trust he will find the experience informative.

THE COMMITTEE'S REPORT

WHILE MANY OF THE KIDD COM- mittee's recommendations have been known to readers of The Times for some time, the report, which was officially released for publication yesterday evening, remains a document of exceptional interest. It represents a great deal of painstaking work by the members of the committee, and however sharp may be the disagreement over some of the findings set forth in it, it should be generally agreed that the committee has shown an exemplary public spirit and a high sense of public duty in undertaking its unusually formidable task in the full realization that many of its recommendations would be unpalatable in numerous quarters.

The committee was appointed as the outcome of agitation for an inquiry into provincial governmental administration by important business interests, mainly in Vancouver. For that reason it was composed almost entirely of businessmen. This meant, in turn, that it would view government as an almost exclusively business proposition, and this, again, explains the various unworkable proposals which appear in the report.

If the committee members had had any considerable legislative or administrative experience, or had included some close students of the science of government, not a few of the recommendations which appear in the present report would not have been made. It would have realized that government is not a business proposition; that, in fact, the purely business side of it is a subsidiary feature of it; that matters of public health, law and order, education, the protection of life and property, indeed the whole social order, are things which can not be envisaged in terms of money. It would have recalled that there is scarcely any record of a so-called business government being successful, since it invariably has been kicked out of office by an angry electorate because it forgot that what may be regarded as good business in the way of governmental administration may be regarded by the public—the masters of government—as a menace to their welfare.

The present financial difficulties of this province—as well as those of most other countries—are largely attributable to pressure from important business interests which, when times were good, have forced governments to engage in extravagant policies, or have caused the boosting of taxation by their demands for special franchises. While governmental structures throughout the world are defective enough, the business fabric is pitifully fragile, as the economic record of the last three years has abundantly proved. Government with all its faults has been at least as efficient as private business, and in some cases much more honest.

Hence, the Kidd committee began its work with formidable limitations, which account for the fact that while it has made many sound recommendations in regard to the purely business aspect of government, it got over its head when it dealt with those aspects of which business economics were altogether secondary features. For example, its recommendation cutting down the age for free education may look like a good business proposition on the surface, but it would involve an impossibly invidious discrimination against a large section of the population and make secondary education a matter of class distinction based upon the relative possession of material means. It also would materially add to our unemployed list and that would be bad in every way.

It is more important that the most liberal opportunities for education should be provided for the youth of this country without regard to social or economic class distinction—bearing in mind that this youth before long must bear the extraordinary burden of the folly of the older generation and that the legacy of debt bequeathed to it largely springs from the selfishness and extravagance of our business life—than it is to lighten the burden of commercial enterprise. Nor is it possible to restrict the conditions under which schools are operated in the country districts, for the simple reason that settlers who have been encouraged to go to those districts by the state have been assured that facilities for the training of their children will be afforded them when they have a certain specified number of young people to take advantage of them. That is an implied contract, and whether it is sound business or not, it can not be violated.

The implication in the recommendation that the Lieutenant-Governor should be a check upon provincial governmental administration needs only to be mentioned to show how far afield the committee was able to get when it departed from the straight and narrow path of sheer considerations of revenue and expenditure. Constitutionally the Lieutenant-Governor could not fill the role suggested for him, even if he were competent to do so. Moreover, the fact, which the committee seemed to overlook, that he is an official of the Dominion government, subject to its instructions, in itself should be sufficient to accentuate the absurdity of this proposal. Apart from constitutional considerations, the Dominion government has enough on its hands to make both ends meet—and at present it is not even beginning to do that—without attempting to run the finances of the people of this province through casual non-representative appointees at Government House, many of whom never have had ten minutes' acquaintance with the complexities and perplexities of public life.

Other anomalies in the report spring from the curious idea that the province for administrative purposes should be patterned on the federal electoral system. For example, the committee thinks government agencies should be reorganized on the division of the province into fourteen districts, without regard to the fact that this division is purely an electoral arrangement, devised as the result of the decennial census, and has nothing whatever to do with administrative conditions, which, as far as Ottawa is concerned, are scarcely in the picture. Ottawa's administrative functions in those districts are as a whole of minor import and in some cases completely negligible, while in them the province is charged with innumerable responsibilities. Indeed, an attempt to base the operation of government agencies on a federal distribution of electoral constituencies would result in chaos. Imagine a settler walking a hundred miles in the winter to a government agent to obtain a marriage license.

Nor would the policing of British Columbia by the Dominion police, instead of by the provincial police, be satisfactory. It would be even bad business as far as revenues are concerned. No police force can properly or fairly serve two masters. Undoubtedly the provincial police might enlarge its municipal responsibilities, but under no circumstances should the public entrust this important agency for the administration of law and order to a body which must take its orders from Ottawa. Eventually, of course, the Dominion police, as it now exists, must be abolished except in the unorganized districts of Canada.

When it deals with the purely financial aspects of government the committee is on firmer ground. The Times is in full accord with the report on the imperative necessity of economy in administration, but with the reservation that this is just as important when times are good as when they are bad. If those who pressed for this investigation had taken sufficient interest in the administration of provincial affairs when "everything was lovely and the goose hung high" as they did six months ago, there would have been no need for drastic measures to-day.

There is nothing new in the information the committee gives in respect of the growth of current expenditure, the increases of the public debt and of taxation; all these have been labored in the press for a considerable period. We agree with the committee that the government is top-heavy, that there should be only six ministers, and we think the membership of the provincial legislature should be substantially reduced, although the extent to which this should be done is a matter for careful investigation. You can not redistribute legislative representation with a map and a blue pencil. The electorate, especially that part of it which has been induced to settle in remote sections, must be heard from, for British Columbia consists of some 690,000 human beings and not a map, and government must conform to the wishes and the aspirations of that aggregate of humanity; otherwise it will disappear in burning ruins.

The committee has found that there should be a reduction of some $6,000,000 in provincial expenditure. Its report does not show how more than $3,500,000 of this amount can be saved, but the committee would be more than human if it were able to do so. Nearly $10,000,000 of our provincial charges are allocated to debt charges. Nearly $5,000,000 must go to the municipalities. In the light of our present revenue of $22,000,000 that leaves only $7,000,000, or thereabouts, on which to run the province. Whether this is enough for the purpose, or not, Finance Minister Jones is able to tell us. He knows more about our financial position than anybody else around James Bay. He knows, too, that some of the economies he is urged to adopt may cost us more in the long run than we have to pay now. He knows that if, for instance, the government radically reduces the personnel of the government service the unemployment list, which will have to be assumed by the province and municipalities, will be considerably enlarged, merchants will suffer and so will the provincial Treasury.

In its recommendation of the abolition of patronage in public works expenditures and in the purchasing of supplies the committee will have the approval of the major portion of the public. The province has lost millions through this pernicious system, and it is time to call a halt to it. Likewise, the public will endorse the proposal of the committee for the disposal of the P.G.E. after a certain period of readjustment. Whether a purchase can be found or not is a question. Just now no interest seems to be able to buy a railroad except under conditions which will result in heavy actual or potential loss to the vendor. Certainly our provincial governments have shed much perspiration in their efforts to sell this railroad during the last ten years.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

WORKING AND SHIRKING The New Outlook

It is good for a man to learn to do good, honest, hard work. A man can go about his work sordidly or stupidly or half-heartedly or angrily and miss the good of it almost altogether. The work that builds character and makes for real happiness and enjoyment is honest, intelligent, and somewhat disinterested work. Shirking or stupidity or greed will spoil work and rob it of its blessing almost completely.

Loose Ends

Police dogs in Esquimalt—the crying need for more nonsense—the education of the young—the turning to left or right—and the pleasant prospects of both.

By H. H. W.

A KINDLY GENTLEMAN from Esquimalt writes me to-day on a vital problem of our civilization. He starts with some pleasing compliments but wants to know why I don't discuss something worth while in this column occasionally, why I don't tackle the larger aspects of life instead of the smaller ones. And what do you suppose this earnest gentleman wants me to tackle? He wants me to tackle police dogs. Yes, it seems that police dogs are infesting Esquimalt these days. They are multiplying, indeed, all over the city until they are almost as common as terriers. And, my correspondent assures me, they are naturally vicious, they are only wolves in dogs' clothing, and they are a perpetual menace to the public. Well, I am glad to disclose this larger problem of our civilization in this newspaper, not because I care about police dogs, which have always been harmless enough to me personally, but because it shows what the minds of the country are thinking about in these critical times. It shows you what governments and statesmen are up against when, as they face the greatest economic crisis in history, the intelligent electorate is worrying about police dogs. This condition is not unique here, not peculiar to Esquimalt. Most statesmen, most governments, while our civilization lies prostrate, are worrying about police dogs in one form or another. Each of them has a little private police dog of his own, the police dog of high tariffs or low tariffs, of inflation or deflation, of currency or exchange. The world is infested with police dogs these days and they are of a breed much more dangerous than those who roam Esquimalt.

ANYWAY, THE GENTLEMAN of Esquimalt is wrong in a philosophical and historic sense in wanting more serious stuffs and less nonsense. The fact that he imagines police dogs to be serious is the best proof that he is wrong. If he had sense enough to appreciate nonsense, if he could laugh at things (including himself), he would see that his most serious views are quite delightfully nonsensical. That would do him a world of good and make him quite happy. His trouble, however, is the same trouble from which the whole world is suffering just now. It is suffering not from too much nonsense, but from too little. What it needs is a good dose of real honest nonsense of the diviner sort, like Alice in Wonderland. Nobody is producing glorious nonsense like Alice any more. I doubt that many people would read it anyway. One of the most significant facts of our civilization, indeed, is that Alice is scarcely being read at all.

WE HAVE lost our sense of nonsense and that is a much more terrible thing than is realized in the dog-ridden regions of Esquimalt or in the gilded chambers of government. A sense of nonsense is really the most important quality a man or a people can have. Without a sense of nonsense most of their actions are bound to be nonsensical. We have less sense of nonsense now than ever and never at any time in history has so much nonsense been talked quite unconsciously in high places or so many nonsensical things done by the rulers of the world. If we only had a sense of nonsense we would understand this. We would be able to see that nearly everything we consider serious and important in the world really is stark lunacy of the merriest sort. We would know instinctively, without having to find it out by years of misery and starvation, that the economic, the political and the social arrangements of the world were as mad as the original March Hare. And before long we would laugh them completely off. And we would enjoy ourselves in the process for, knowing that everything in this peculiar world is nonsensical at the best, we would cease to worry about it. Police dogs, politics and panics could never touch us.

MY GOOD friend Mr. Butterfield, of The Vancouver Province, a brilliant Tory, who really understands what he is one (which is rare) writes in his inimitable way to support the Kidd committee's recommendation of less schooling for the young. "I will always maintain," he says, "that it is useless and wasteful to pour out money upon the education of the great majority of the people. It is a national responsibility to educate the young to the point where they can read and write and count up to ten. Any further education should be upon the responsibility and at the expense of the parent, or the young man himself." This, of course, means that the majority would only learn to read and write and count up to ten, because no one who has only this much education has enough sense to want any more, and parents of the same learning will not bother to increase that of their offspring. In the same fashion, if the Kidd committee's proposals are put into operation, general education will end at the age of fourteen, when free schooling ceases.

THIS WOULD be very comfortable for the taxpayers—temporarily. But Mr. Butterfield and the Kidd committee don't look forward quite far enough, to the time when the present boys of fourteen are men of forty and are running the world. It wouldn't be so comfortable then. For obviously with a public even more ignorant than it is now, the present system of politics and society could not survive. It requires such a high degree of public intelligence that I often wonder whether it will survive anyway, whether the public mentality will ever catch up to the increasing problems of the time. Now if the present system went under, there would be only two alternatives, a sharp turning to what are known in intellectual circles as the left or the right. A turn to the left would mean a mob revolution and some kind of Bolshevism such as they have in Russia. A turn to the right would mean some kind of Fascism, with a dominant ruling class, composed probably of the money barons and some able generals like the gang which is running Germany just now.

MIND YOU, there are plenty of big business men who think we need a revolution of the latter sort. There are plenty of politicians who secretly believe (particularly after they have been defeated at the polls) that the public is incapable of running itself and needs an established ruling class. Many greater men than Mr. Butterfield and the Kidd committee have thought that, from Plato onwards. I am not quarrelling with the idea, but I say it would be uncomfortable for most of us. For assuredly under such an arrangement, or under an efficient Communist government, no one would be allowed to write a document like the Kidd report, which would be too honorable to get to the top in such a scramble. The things would be on top and pretty soon the rest of us wouldn't even be taught to read or write, because it might make us dangerous. The rest of us would be tilling the ground, heaving wood and drawing water for the thugs. I could stand this kind of thing because I am used to it. But I doubt that it would appeal to men like Mr. Butterfield and the Kidd committee. They have been having too comfortable a time under our present wretched system of democracy.

Fruit cups are much more palatable when a spoonful of sherbet is placed in their centre.

Brown sugar combined with milk will not curdle while cooking if a pinch of soda is placed in the mixture.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
 AUGUST 30, 1907
 From The Times Files

Weather Forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Moderate or fresh winds; generally fair, with stationary or higher temperatures.

A news dispatch from Quebec received late this afternoon states that the great Quebec bridge collapsed late afternoon and now the vast mass of steel lies a tumbled wreck across the St. Lawrence Channel. Scores were killed by the collapse of the gigantic structure. About eighty workmen who were on the bridge were carried to their death when it gave way.

The report was current yesterday that the property owned by the Albion Iron Works Company, 6000 Store Street had been purchased by the Canadian Pacific Railway for yard purposes. Inquiries at the railway offices failed to substantiate the story, but led to the information that inquiries had been made with that object in view.

It was rumored in authoritative places to-day that the C.P.R. would inaugurate a daily Trans-Canadian train service in the spring of next year.

Tickets are selling very rapidly and present appearances indicate that the Y.M.C.A. Labor Day excursion to Ganges Harbor this year will be very successful.

The last batch of streets on which boulevarding is to be done this year was passed by the City Council at a special meeting called for that purpose yesterday evening.

GRAPPLE WITH FARM PROBLEMS

Canadian Press
 Toronto, Aug. 30.—Dividing into committees for intensive work, Canada's first conference of agricultural experts, federal, provincial and academic to-day grappled with the farmers' greatest problem—how to make farming pay when prices are low.

Summoned by the Federal Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Robert Weir, more than 100 delegates from nine provinces set out on a programme of co-operation which it is hoped will link all the agricultural services of the Dominion and give more practical assistance to the farmers than ever before.

A national advisory council to continue the work of co-ordination was advocated by Mr. Weir at the opening session, and possibly provincial councils to deal with problems of purely provincial importance. Agricultural organizations, he contended, should join forces rather than work separately on the same problems.

Farm leaders must get together, added Mr. Weir, if they were to take full advantage of the new opportunities for export offered by the trade pacts made at the Ottawa Imperial Conference. They must also show the farmer where he was losing money and how he could spend his efforts more profitably.

TO HELP CANADA

S. E. Todd, secretary of the industrial council of the Canadian Meat Packers' Association, announced that hereafter packing houses would permit government inspectors to inspect hog carcasses "on the rail" at the rail yards.

Dean A. M. Shaw of the University of Saskatchewan called attention to the market for finished beef in the United Kingdom, and pointed out that wheat was an ideal finishing feed for cattle. Continuity of supply, he declared, was an even more important requirement than quality in the United Kingdom market, because dealers supplying the trade there could not afford to disappoint their customers.

Dr. E. S. Archibald of Ottawa was elected permanent chairman of the conference.

Port William, Ont., Aug. 30.—Had it failed, the Imperial Economic Conference would have assumed the proportions of a catastrophe in the opinion of Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways. Instead, he believes it has laid the foundations of a commercial structure on which the nations of the empire now have the opportunity as they never had before to build an enduring monument to progress and prosperity.

Addressing nearly 1,000 of his constituents here on the probable results of the economic parity, Dr. Manion, who was liaison officer of the conference, gave his summary of the agreements made by the representatives of the nations.

Both the Dominion and British House of Parliament would assemble about the middle of October, he said, when formal ratification of the agreements would take place. Once put into effect, it would be the responsibility of the producers, the industrialists and all lines of business affected by the agreements to seize the opportunities of increased trade provided by these trade pacts, he said.

Expressing complete confidence in the ultimate advantages to increased empire trade as represented in the Ottawa agreement, the minister counselled against expectation of immediate results. The trade trend upward would be gradual, he said, but none the less certain.

Dangerous Varicose Veins Can Be Reduced

Never mind what people say. If you have varicose or swollen veins, you want to reduce them to normal, go to any enterprising drug store and ask for an original two-ounce bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength). If he hasn't it, he can get it. Apply it to the enlarged veins as directed and improvement will be noticed in a few days. Continue its use until veins return to normal size. It is guaranteed to reduce swollen veins or money back. (Advt.)

APPOINTMENTS MADE AT U.B.C.

Dr. Walter N. Sage New Head of History Department

Canadian Press
 Vancouver, Aug. 30.—Dr. Walter N. Sage, professor of history, University of British Columbia, was appointed head of the Department of History to succeed Prof. D. C. Harvey, by the board of governors at the monthly meeting yesterday evening. During the last year Dr. Sage acted as head of the department.

Prof. F. A. Wilkin was appointed acting head of the Department of Civil Engineering, to replace Prof. William Duckering. Due to the leave of absence granted Dr. H. W. Hill, the following appointments were made in the Department of Nursing and Health: Miss Mabel F. Gray to be acting head of the department; Dr. G. F. Amyot, lecturer in preventable diseases and epidemiology, and Dr. J. McIntosh, lecturer in public health.

SCHOLARSHIP ADDED
 An additional junior matriculation scholarship of $100 was granted by the board of the Vancouver and New Westminster district, because two candidates had tied for first place. Miss Pauline Clabon, John Oliver High School, and Leslie Robert Goulding, of Connaught High School, will each receive a $100 scholarship.

It was decided by the board to limit attendance in the second year class of applied sciences to 120, "due to the physical limitation of class rooms." Dr. W. M. Sage, new head of the history department, came to the University of British Columbia from Queen's University, Kingston, in 1918. He holds degrees from the universities of Toronto and Oxford and has published several works dealing with the history of British Columbia, including the book, "Sir James Douglas and British Columbia."

AIR BOARD IS GIVEN SUPPORT

Council Votes Confidence in Advisory Body After Criticism

On a vote of confidence in the Advisory Air Board, the City Council yesterday evening closed the dispute between the board and Alderman W. D. Todd, chairman of the business and trade development committee, which arose out of the appointment of a manager for the Gordon Head airport.

The air board placed before the council a letter asking withdrawal of Ald. Todd's statement that the board had been a "curse" and a "stumbling block" to his committee in the appointment.

Mayor Leeming said he thought Ald. Todd's statement might have been misunderstood and everything could be settled amicably.

Ald. Todd declared the letter appeared to be a very childish one. He maintained that stumbling blocks had been placed in the path of appointment of an airport manager. He had tried several times to have the appointment made, but was unsuccessful.

It was suggested by Alderman P. R. Brown that the council adjourn for a few minutes to give Ald. Todd a few minutes to consider his position. If he refused to do so, he intended to bring in a resolution supporting the air board, he said.

Ald. Todd said he merely did not wish to be blamed for something he had not done. He had tried to work in the best interests of the city.

Ald. W. T. Straith said the air board had not approached the matter with any vindictiveness but merely wished a withdrawal of Ald. Todd's statements, not an apology. It would be necessary so that amicable relationships could continue between the board and Ald. Todd's committee, with which it worked.

Ald. Todd reiterated his belief that obstacles had been placed in his way but said if the board wished to have the words dropped, it was "all right with him."

The council then passed a resolution expressing confidence in the air board and appreciation for its services.

SPECIAL SESSION ON CIVIC SURVEY

Council to Debate Auditors' Report in Committee Meeting

The City Council will discuss the report of Ianay Boisten and Holden, civic auditors, at a special meeting in committee of the whole, it was decided yesterday evening on a motion of Alderman P. R. Brown, finance committee chairman.

The report brought down after the auditors' economy survey of civic departments before the council, but no action was taken. Alderman Brown said he would like to have representatives of the auditing firm present when it was discussed, as explanation of various recommendations might be necessary. The report was a voluminous one and would take probably a whole evening to consider so he proposed a special meeting be held at the call of the mayor.

Many Drastic Changes Are Proposed By Committee

Highlights of Kidd Report

Twenty-five per cent reduction in staff of liquor stores and warehouses. Reduction of all wages and salaries by 20 per cent.

Abolish school boards in municipal school districts and turn over functions to municipal councils.

Reduction of 25 per cent in teachers' salaries.

Scale of fees at Normal School sufficient to cover the entire cost of education of the students.

Closing of University of British Columbia if next year government is forced to discontinue $250,000 grant and financial resources are so meagre as to impair university's efficiency. Scholarships plan to provide attendance at university elsewhere.

Recommendations for education economies estimated to save $2,000,000.

Beer parlors be allowed to sell beer by the bottle for consumption off the premises.

Acceptance of Pacific Brewers' Agents Limited offer for house deliveries of beer on telephone orders, reducing price to public from $2.10 to $1.75 per dozen.

Abolish law enforcement branch of Liquor Board and leave work to police.

Warning against regarding 14.6 per cent source of total revenue derived from liquor as stable in view of possible United States liquor law change.

Call halt in social service legislation deals to see if same objects cannot be achieved by some less costly and more equitable method.

Limit placed on free education at fourteen years of age. Fifty per cent of entire cost borne by pupils over fourteen years.

Hundred per cent of cost charged to pupils continuing attendance at high school after completion of sixteenth year.

Increase minimum children required to open rural school from ten to fifteen and for establishing high school from fifteen to twenty.

Reduction of present thirty-seven government agency offices to fourteen forthwith with object of reducing to seven in two or three years. Saving $200,000.

Supplement estimates only for exceptional and unforeseen circumstances.

Sell British Columbia House in London, close British Columbia Agent-General's office and market's board in England costing $93,399 a year, and transfer work to Canada House headquarters of the Dominion in London.

Place Boys' Industrial Home under Attorney-General's Department.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police undertake police work of whole province to cut down present cost of thirty-nine separate forces to province, cities, and municipalities of $1,700,000. Exception proposed for Vancouver and surrounding municipalities and Victoria.

Establishment of Vancouver Metropolitan Police for Vancouver and district.

Abolition of $40,000 yearly political patronage prosecuting counsel fees by eliminating law enforcement branch of Liquor Board leaving its counsel at disposal of Attorney-General's Department with department undertaking all criminal and civil work on behalf of crown, except when employment of eminent counsel is advisable.

Consideration to appointment of sheriffs on fees and poundage basis and no salary to cut loss of $2,580 in Vancouver, and $2,875.57 in Victoria last year. Or reduce staff so there will be no loss.

Preserve game but greatly curtail expenditure for this purpose until budget is balanced.

Keep special warrant expenditures within spirit Audit Act section specifying provision for accidents to building or essential repairs when Legislature is not in session to vote money.

Publication of public accounts as soon as printed—within four and a half months after close of fiscal year or by August 15.

Publication of annual cash account.

Statement of capital account, current account and trust account.

Publication of quarterly statement of revenue and expenditures.

Income tax revision for insurance companies, banks, telegraph and express companies and railways, making them liable for tax on net income as on public utility companies.

Saving on income tax collection by accepting Dominion returns.

Elimination political patronage in purchasing with contracts awarded to lowest bidder regardless of political affiliation, close check kept on supplies on hand, and no orders placed except through purchasing agent.

Great reduction in staff of game wardens by utilizing overlapping services of police, forest rangers and game wardens to effect salary and traveling expense savings.

Elimination of pheasant raising farm at Elk Lake on grounds results do not justify $11,000 yearly expenditure. Purchase of young birds for liberation each year with co-operation of gun clubs and private persons sought.

Temporary repeal of Minimum Wage Act.

Place employment service offices in government buildings to save $10,420 annual rent and upkeep costs.

Reduction in liquor prices for increased consumption and greater profit. Uniformity to percentage of profits in fixing retail prices. Passing on of distillers' reductions to consumers.

Refusal to renew liquor warehouse licenses if excessive rent for some properties are not reduced.

Consideration of offer of liquor warehouse premises in New Westminster of Pacific Coast Terminals Limited on grounds present Vancouver warehouse is in unsuitable location, and rental offer is lower than board now pays.

Too many brands of whiskeys and gins stocked.

No further university endowment land expenditures. Sale or lease of lots in the subdivided area. Sale in present state of remaining 2,500 subdivided acres.

No further land settlement and irrigation fund advances and money turned over to treasury as it is repaid.

Leutenant-Governor Act as restraining influence on expenditures especially those originating on political platforms.

"Only the most careful administration can prevent the province from being faced with an expenditure under the head of Old Age Pensions it will be almost impossible for it to meet."

Reduce $285,762 annual expenditure of Department of Agriculture to $27,098 by merging it into proposed Natural Resources Department to be administered by a deputy.

Marketing efforts should be sustained by producers of commodities marketed.

Farmers and Women's Institutes should be administered by those whom they are organized to benefit.

Women's Institute Social Services should be transferred to proposed Department of Social Service.

Found Act should be administered by police.

points of the political party in power and subject to their direction?" The report represents the findings of George Kidd, W. L. Macken, Austin Taylor, A. H. Douglas and R. W. Mayhew after making searching investigations of every department of government. The non-partisan voluntary commission was appointed in April after representatives of over twenty boards of trade, manufacturers, merchants, property owners, shipping, automobile, building, service clubs and other organizations of the province had made an appeal to the government for the inquiry to be conducted with the view of making recommendations whereby the financial conditions of British Columbia might be improved.

The 150-page report goes extensively into the financial affairs of the province and throughout stresses the need for more and more economy. Increase in the public debt from $23,923,023 in 1914 to $119,084,535 in 1932 is viewed with alarm and strong representations are made that no more obligations which make borrowing necessary should be incurred.

doubting in 1931 of the yearly average expenditures of the Department of Public Works.

DISMISSALS

"The suggestion involving the dismissal of a large number of government employees will no doubt bring forth the criticism that such a policy will add to the already large numbers of unemployed," the report says. "This is, of course, obviously true, but in our opinion the first object of any government department should be efficiency and there are few defects more fruitful of inefficiency than a cumbersome and unwieldy administrative machine, which inevitably results from too many employees. Particularly in our present straitened circumstances, it should be the object of each department to conduct its affairs with a maximum of efficiency at a minimum of cost so that the government may be in a position to meet the very heavy demands which it will have to meet for the relief of the unemployed. In our opinion, it is far better that persons should be frankly recognized as unemployed than attempt at a much greater cost to retain them on the payroll."

"In discharging employees, particularly those who have rendered efficient service over a number of years, some compensation will have to be provided in particular cases, but we doubt whether any general scheme can be recommended by us as all the circumstances surrounding each employee will have to be considered."

TOO MUCH PRINTING

Much of the expenditure of the Bureau of Information has been extravagant, and little, if any, constructive or useful purpose has been served, in the opinion of the committee.

"It is impossible to eliminate the bureau. It is charged with the task of answering numerous enquiries seeking information of all descriptions with regard to the province. We therefore recommend that it be reorganized and revitalized and that it be transferred to the main buildings under the direct supervision of the Premier."

"The committee is of the opinion that the work given to the King's Printer in the shape of reports and printing of all descriptions is in many cases unnecessary and in nearly all cases excessive, particularly in so far as the number and elaboration of various reports are concerned. It approves of mimeographing certain of the government publications, and thinks that this should be extended as far as practicable."

The government might well adopt a policy of making a charge for annual Justment of prices to absorb the increased Dominion taxes, and falling this at a lower price, be substituted. We find that the board is paying excessive rents for some of its properties. We recommend that if reductions cannot be effected these leases be not renewed when they expire.

"We see no justification for the warehouse in Victoria. It is a complete duplication of the staff and stock in the Vancouver warehouse and we therefore recommend that it be closed.

"We do not approve of the location of the Vancouver warehouse. It is quite unsuitable for handling imported liquors, with the result that handling costs are excessive. We have been informed that Pacific Coast Terminal Limited in Victoria, which is owned by the city of West Vancouver, is interested in respect of its bonds has made an offer to purchase the warehouse at a price which would greatly reduce these handling costs.

"We find that both stores and warehouses are greatly overstaffed, and are of opinion that the whole staff could be reduced by 25 per cent in number with advantage in efficiency.

"We are of opinion that the scale of salaries paid is excessive in view of the fact that no particular training is required. We recommend that all wages and salaries be reduced by 20 per cent.

"That all beer parlors be allowed to sell beer by the bottle for consumption off the premises.

"That the offer of Pacific Breweries Agents Limited, contained in the letter of June 15 last to the chairman of the board (dealing with house deliveries of beer on telephone orders) be accepted, so permitting the price of beer to be reduced to the public from $2.10 to $1.75 per dozen.

"That the law enforcement branch of the board be discontinued. This is police work and we see no reason why it should not be undertaken by the police.

SOCIAL SERVICES

"The net cost of social services has risen from $5,328,008.33 in 1922 to $6,870,000.00 for the year ended March 31, 1931.

"We are not suggesting that these ideals should be abandoned, but we are most emphatically suggesting that the time has come to call a halt for the purpose of surveying the results already accomplished, with the object of ascertaining whether the same ideals cannot be achieved by some less costly and more equitable method.

EDUCATION DEPT.

"We recommend that free education be provided up to the completion of the pupil's fourteenth year, that is, up to the fourteenth anniversary of his birth.

"Should a pupil wish to attend high school after the completion of his fourteenth year, he should only be permitted to do so on paying fees sufficient to cover 50 per cent of the entire cost of his education, including interest and sinking fund charges on capital raised for the school building. If he desires to continue attendance at high school after the completion of his sixteenth year, he should only be permitted to do so on paying fees sufficient to cover 100 per cent of such entire cost.

"The foregoing recommendation is not intended to interfere with night schools, which we consider a valuable provision for those who are sufficiently enterprising to take advantage of them.

SCHOLARSHIPS

"If the above recommendation is adopted, we are of opinion that a reasonable sum should be provided annually by the provincial government and municipalities for the purpose of establishing a well-considered plan of scholarships so that all pupils of exceptional ability and promise may have an opportunity of enjoying the full benefits of our complete educational facilities.

"The Public Schools Act provides that a public school may be established in a rural school district if there are not less than ten children between the ages of six and fourteen years residing within its boundaries and available for attendance at public school. We recommend that this be amended so that there must be a minimum of fifteen children between the ages of six and fourteen years.

"The act also provides for the establishment of a high school if there are fifteen persons available as pupils at such school. We recommend that this number be increased to twenty.

CLOSING OF SCHOOLS

"The act provides that a public school in a municipal school district shall be closed if the average attendance falls below eight, or below six in a rural school district. We recommend that both these numbers be changed to ten.

"The act also provides that a high school shall be closed where the average attendance falls below ten. We recommend that this figure be increased to fifteen.

"The existing correspondence courses which provide the only source of education to-day for a large number of children in the province will be available for those children for whom no these recommendations are adopted.

TEACHERS' SALARIES

"Turning to teachers' salaries, the report says:

"In a pamphlet published by the B.C. Teachers' Federation entitled 'What It Is, What It Isn't, What It Aims to Do,' under the heading of 'Salaries,' the following remarks appear:

"The average salary of all teachers in British Columbia has increased very considerably since the federation was organized and the remuneration now offered is attracting many of the best students of our high schools and universities to the teaching profession. Several attempts have been made to reduce salaries, but the teachers have generally been able to withstand such attempts owing to the activities of the provincial and local organizations."

"Of the truth of this contention there can be no question. We regret that the same consideration of their own interests has not been displayed by that unorganized and inarticulate body of sufferers known as taxpayers, in which case their punishment would not be as severe as it is to-day, a punishment which is likely to continue for many years.

"In making the foregoing comments, it is not our intention to criticize in any way the legitimate ideals of those associated with education to uphold and improve the standard of education. All we are suggesting is that the ideal have the force of law, and that the taxpayer has not protected his interests with anything like the same effect as the teachers.

"The salaries of teachers are at present based on a schedule which takes into consideration the length of the teacher's service, the position he occupies and the class of school in which he is engaged. The present Minister of Education has formed a committee consisting of nine teachers and nine laymen representing the school trustees and other interests for the purpose of drawing up a more equitable schedule of salaries than the one at present in force.

"It would therefore be unwise on our part, even assuming we had the necessary information to attempt the preparation of a new schedule, but we have no hesitation in recommending that the government be prepared providing for a reduction in the scale of salaries by 25 per cent. This reduction of 25 per cent should be in addition to such economies as may accrue from the reduced number of teachers which would result from the adoption of all the recommendations made by us in connection with education."

NORMAL SCHOOLS

"We recommend that such fees be charged in these schools as will cover the full cost of the education, including interest and sinking fund charges on capital raised for the school building. We see no reason why those entering the teaching profession should be given their technical instruction at the expense of the state any more than those entering any other profession.

UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

"The estimates of provincial expenditure for the year ending March 31, 1933, include a grant of $250,000 for the university, which, in our opinion, the government will be unable to continue next year. What effect the discontinuance of this grant will have on its ability to maintain its existence, we cannot say without an examination of the affairs of the university, which is outside the scope of our inquiry. Should it eventually be found that the financial resources of the university are so meagre as to impair its efficiency, the question will have to be considered whether it may not be in the best interests of higher education to close the university and rely on the proposal contained in paragraph 171 to establish scholarships to furnish the means of attending a university elsewhere in the Dominion.

"The difficulty of estimating the economies which would result if the foregoing recommendations were adopted is apparent, but in our opinion, they should effect a reduction of approximately $2,000,000 in the total cost of education, of which about 30 per cent would accrue to the provincial government.

AGRICULTURE

"Eliminations suggested by merging the Department of Agriculture are cited as follows:

"All marketing efforts should be sustained by producers of the commodities marketed.

"Farmers and women's institutes would undoubtedly become more virile and effective if supported financially by those whom they are organized to benefit.

"Social services now carried on under women's institutes should be transferred to the proposed department of social services.

"The Pound Act could be administered by the police.

"The need for automobiles would be materially lessened by the discontinuance of activities dealt with under the remaining classifications.

"There are yet very extensive areas of cleared land available for settlement, and it is suggested that such areas be filled up before people are encouraged to take up heavily wooded or swamp land requiring the use of powder.

"It is recommended that educational efforts be limited to such activities as are carried on by the Dominion Government.

"The amount of money granted to farms is out of all proportion to their educational value and, apart from obligations in respect to buildings which have been set aside for the purpose, grants should be substantially reduced and in the case of very small farms, discontinued.

FISHERIES DEPARTMENT

"We recommend that the Provincial Department of Fisheries be closed, thereby effecting an economy in excess of $20,000, and that arrangements be made with Ottawa accordingly. If this is done, it is probable that the granting of licenses and collection of revenues could be transferred to the Department of Finance.

MINES

"In our opinion, this department should be reorganized, as we are satisfied that substantial economies can be effected.

"With the inclusion of the Department of Mines as the Mines Branch of the Department of Natural Resources its own Minister and Deputy Minister will disappear.

"Outside of the provincial mineralogist and the provincial assayer, who are stationed in Victoria, there are two sets of trained men in the department. First, the inspectors in the mines inspection branch, and secondly, the resident engineers appointed under the Mineral Development Act.

"We recommend the complete severance between the activities of the inspectors and the resident engineers be terminated, and that they be brought together and described as inspectors, whose duties according to their respective qualifications will be assigned by the technical head of the mines branch.

"The technical side of the new mines branch will consist, in the main, of these inspectors, but substantially reduced in number from the sum of the personnel comprising the present inspection branch and the resident engineer service.

"With a technical man at the head of the mines branch, the need for the retention of the provincial assayer separate bureau of mines would largely be terminated, and the assayer would be done by the technical side by one and one other trained men who would be available for technical work outside of that undertaken by the inspectors.

"We are of opinion that if this department is reorganized on these lines, its whole cost without loss to the public service can be reduced to $85,000.

LANDS DEPARTMENT

"We are of opinion that this department viewed as a whole is greatly overstuffed. In the year ended March 31, 1931, when this department's revenue was practically the same as that which is estimated to receive during the current fiscal year, its expenditure on salaries was less than half of the expenditure on salaries for the current year, as already stated. We see no justification for the amount of the present salaries.

"We are satisfied that the pressing need for economy in all branches of government activity insistently demands a very substantial curtailment in the staff now employed in this department and in its attendant expenses, such as motor cars, boats and traveling expenses generally.

"That negotiations be entered into with the municipalities having as their object a more equitable distribution of the cost of maintaining highways running within municipal boundaries because, in our opinion, the government has taken over an impossible burden in assuming the cost of maintenance for an instance, for example, reclassification, during the two years ended March 31, 1931, the government is now responsible for the full cost of the betterment and maintenance of 311 miles of road within municipal boundaries.

"That there be a reorganization and reduction of the outside as well as the inside staff.

"That a central drafting department be organized to prepare all plans for the architectural, surveying and engineering departments.

"That all departmental cars and trucks be painted in a distinctive color so as to identify it readily as a government car.

"That when cars are replaced, less expensive ones be provided for the engineers, and that where it is necessary to supply a foreman with a car it be a light truck to enable tools and supplies to be carried.

"That a monthly record be kept of the mileage, gas and oil consumption, repairs, etc., of all departmental cars and of private cars used on government business.

"That machinery be housed and protected and an inventory of all large construction plant and equipment be made with a view to disposing of the surplus when reasonable prices can be secured.

"That mechanics and operators of large equipment be experienced and dependable, and employed solely on their qualifications.

"That the renting or renewing of leases for buildings be studied with the object of reducing the number and cost to a minimum.

"That the operation of ferries where the cost is excessive to the service be discontinued.

"That the eight ferries now in operation on the north Thompson River between Kamloops and Avola be reduced in number.

"That where possible power ferries be subsidized rather than operated by the government, and a toll charged on those retained by the government.

"That the highway, traffic and utilities office in Vancouver be closed, and the work carried out by the present staff in Victoria.

"That no appreciable expenditures be incurred on surveys when a cursory investigation of the project tending with political expediency for the determination of public policy."

"We make the following recommendations with regard to this department:

"1. That all construction work on new highways and buildings be discontinued at once, and that all expenditures on roads be confined for the present to such maintenance and betterments as are essential, results of which is estimated to receive during the current fiscal year, its expenditure on salaries was less than half of the expenditure on salaries for the current year, as already stated. We see no justification for the amount of the present salaries.

"2. That the Dominion Government be asked without delay to discontinue the construction of their section of the Big Bend road.

"3. That no further expenditures be made on surveys for the proposed Alaskan highway upon which $35,249.42 was spent in 1930-31.

"4. That negotiations be entered into with the municipalities having as their object a more equitable distribution of the cost of maintaining highways running within municipal boundaries because, in our opinion, the government has taken over an impossible burden in assuming the cost of maintenance for an instance, for example, reclassification, during the two years ended March 31, 1931, the government is now responsible for the full cost of the betterment and maintenance of 311 miles of road within municipal boundaries.

"12. That the renting or renewing of leases for buildings be studied with the object of reducing the number and cost to a minimum.

"13. That the operation of ferries where the cost is excessive to the service be discontinued.

"14. That the eight ferries now in operation on the north Thompson River between Kamloops and Avola be reduced in number.

"15. That where possible power ferries be subsidized rather than operated by the government, and a toll charged on those retained by the government.

"16. That the highway, traffic and utilities office in Vancouver be closed, and the work carried out by the present staff in Victoria.

"17. That no appreciable expenditures be incurred on surveys when a cursory investigation of the project tending with political expediency for the determination of public policy."

"We make the following recommendations with regard to this department:

"1. That all construction work on new highways and buildings be discontinued at once, and that all expenditures on roads be confined for the present to such maintenance and betterments as are essential, results of which is estimated to receive during the current fiscal year, its expenditure on salaries was less than half of the expenditure on salaries for the current year, as already stated. We see no justification for the amount of the present salaries.

"2. That the Dominion Government be asked without delay to discontinue the construction of their section of the Big Bend road.

"3. That no further expenditures be made on surveys for the proposed Alaskan highway upon which $35,249.42 was spent in 1930-31.

"4. That negotiations be entered into with the municipalities having as their object a more equitable distribution of the cost of maintaining highways running within municipal boundaries because, in our opinion, the government has taken over an impossible burden in assuming the cost of maintenance for an instance, for example, reclassification, during the two years ended March 31, 1931, the government is now responsible for the full cost of the betterment and maintenance of 311 miles of road within municipal boundaries.

"5. That there be a reorganization and reduction of the outside as well as the inside staff.

"6. That a central drafting department be organized to prepare all plans for the architectural, surveying and engineering departments.

"7. That all departmental cars and trucks be painted in a distinctive color so as to identify it readily as a government car.

"8. That when cars are replaced, less expensive ones be provided for the engineers, and that where it is necessary to supply a foreman with a car it be a light truck to enable tools and supplies to be carried.

"9. That a monthly record be kept of the mileage, gas and oil consumption, repairs, etc., of all departmental cars and of private cars used on government business.

"10. That machinery be housed and protected and an inventory of all large construction plant and equipment be made with a view to disposing of the surplus when reasonable prices can be secured.

ON FIRST OFFICIAL VISIT TO VICTORIA

HER EXCELLENCY THE COUNTESS OF BESSBOROUGH

Lady Bessborough To Be Guest of Societies

Interesting Functions to Be Feature of Her Excellency's Itinerary in Victoria; Girl Guides, Women's Canadian Club, I.O.D.E. and Navy League W.A. to Be Hosts

Happily coinciding with the resumption of activities after the summer vacation, the visit of the vice-regal party on its first official visit to Victoria has been the signal for a number of affairs arranged by local branches of national organizations in which the Countess of Bessborough has shown an active interest since assuming the role of chateleine at Ottawa. Her Excellency's engagements in Victoria commence this evening, when she and the Governor-General will attend a public reception in their honor to be held at the Parliament Buildings, commencing at 9.30 o'clock, when the general public will be received in the legislative chamber.

AT GUIDES' RALLY

To-morrow afternoon at 5.30 o'clock, Lady Bessborough will take the salute at a rally of Girl Guides and Brownies at the Victoria Order of Nurses' headquarters, in which causes, as in all matters pertaining to the welfare of Canada, they are deeply interested.

Lord and Lady Bessborough, with their son, Viscount Duncannon, and their nephew, Mr. Robin W. Baring, and suite, will leave on Tuesday night for their return to Vancouver.

HER EXCELLENCY MEETS GUIDES

Has Tea at Their "Lunch Shop" at Vancouver Exhibition

Vancouver, Aug. 30.—The Countess of Bessborough had tea with the Girl Guides at their "lunch shop" at the Canada Pacific exhibition yesterday afternoon and indicated her great interest in the objective of the venture. Having been a commissioner of the fund being collected to secure a camp site for the Girl Guides of Vancouver.

The rangers also attracted Her Excellency's attention, for she thought it excellent training for the girls. Before she left Mrs. L. D. Chesman presented a bouquet of white heather to Lady Bessborough, who also graciously received a Girl Guide cook book, which has recently been published. Guides who served in the lunch shop acted as a guard of honor for Lady Bessborough who was accompanied by Lieut. Col. A. D. Wilson and A. F. Lascelles. Two commissioners, Mrs. Moson and Mrs. Dallas Perry were honored by having tea with the distinguished visitor. Prior to her visit to the guide shop, Lady Bessborough had accompanied the Governor-General when he formally opened the exhibition. That attractive new shade of nut brown was chosen by the Countess for her full length redingote with short shoulder cape, worn over a close-fitting frock of beige silk crepe printed in dark brown. Very smart was her matching brown narrow-brimmed Milan hat tilted over the right side, and showing across the top of the crown a trimming of brown and beige ribbon. A handsome silver fox fur, brown pumps and a beige handbag completed her chic ensemble.

For the reception in the evening, Lady Bessborough again chose brown. Her gown fashioned on simple lines, was long and slightly flaring at the hemline. Her sleeves being the new three-quarter length. Of brown and beige cloth was her small turban model hat.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR PUBLIC RECEPTION

At the public reception to be held this evening at the Parliament Buildings, the Governor-General and Lady Bessborough will enter the Legislative Chamber at 9.30 o'clock and will take their stand before the speaker's dais to receive the general public. Admission to the public will be by the east door, not the main entrance of the Buildings, and the speaker's dais will proceed through the treasury department to the Legislative Chamber, leaving wraps and coats en route. The public galleries will be closed. No invitations have been issued for this evening's function, for the purpose of permitting the general public to meet the distinguished visitors.

MME. FAHEY IS ACCLAIMED

Former Victorian Enthusiastically Welcomed By Capacity Audience

Sings Superbly in Recital at St. John's With Church Organist

Victoria, the native home of Madame Lugin Fahey for a number of years—she now lives at Toronto—evidently had not forgotten the days of her concert achievements and popularity, when her vocal gifts and splendid soprano voice were seen and heard with so much pleasure. On the occasion of a specially arranged recital at St. John's Church yesterday evening by its choirmaster and organist, G. Jennings Burnett, who shared the programme with Madame Fahey, the edifice was crowded to the doors, while many stood and additional chairs were brought in, eloquent testimony of the esteem in which Mme. Fahey is held here.

Those who know Madame Fahey know her as a life student and one who never spares herself in seeking attainment and vocal worth. To-day, an example to many a student, she stands as one of Canada's outstanding singers, and as she stood before her big audience she herself must have shared in no small measure the delight and satisfaction that undoubtedly prevailed.

Her singing—her voice retains its power and freshness, combined with charm of personality—still communicates an intangible friendliness, and her musical intelligence and authority, contribute tremendously to the position she occupies in the sphere of vocalism.

Her numbers were as usual well arranged and interesting: Handel's "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," sung with command and much expression; "I Will Extol Thee," the brilliant aria from Costa's "El"; the superb aria, "Hear Ye Israel," from the "Elijah"; a magnificent rendering of Sullivan's ever green, "The Lost Chord"; her own, "Lullaby," beautiful in its simplicity, and well devised, so feelingly and charmingly uttered that it reached the hearts of all present, and concluding with a superlative performance of Campion's fine sacred song, "The Ninety and Nine."

G. Jennings Burnett's accompaniments to these added much to their artistic deliveries, and his organ solos received rapt attention throughout. These included three Bach numbers, the opening, "Choral Prelude," the "Aria in the G string for violin, and the beautiful "Choral," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," the remarkable "Andante Cantabile" (Tchaikovsky), a particularly enjoyed performance, and his own "Ave Prelude." Mr. Burnett has a facility in harmonization, and his charming little work, on excellent model lines, combined with good musical effect and judgment, gave distinct pleasure.

The choir sang two hymns, and Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick spoke in eulogistic manner of Madame Fahey, all at the close pronounced the benediction.

CITIZEN MEDAL IS PRESENTED

Mrs. James Macaulay Honored By Native Sons in Vancouver Sunday

Vancouver, Aug. 29.—The 1932 good citizenship medal, awarded this year by Native Sons of British Columbia as a tribute of the younger generation to the sterling character and achievements of an eminent pioneer Vancouver woman, was formally presented to Mrs. James Macaulay in Stanley Park yesterday afternoon.

While thousands of citizens applauded from the grassy slopes, Mayor L. D. Taylor pinned the medal on the year's "good citizen," following a simple celebration on the bandstand. The service was conducted during the half-hour's intermission in the park's board programme.

Mrs. Macaulay, whose philanthropic work and organizing ability have resulted in the formation and success of many institutions, was the eleventh resident of Vancouver to receive the distinctive appreciation day medal. In 1922 the plan was devised by Native Sons of B.C. Post No. 2, to pay annual tribute to a resident of Vancouver whose work and interests were for the betterment of the citizens.

JOHN AMERY STILL UNWED

British Minister's Son and Fiancee Return From Abroad; Flat Is Robbed

Canadian Press
London, Aug. 30.—John Amery's troubles multiply. The young son of Rt. Hon. L. S. Amery and his fiancée, Una Evelyn Winn, twenty-two-year-old actress, who left London last Wednesday after asserting they would not return until they were married, arrived back from the Continent yesterday. The nuptial knot had not been tied. To make matters worse, they found that Mr. Amery's flat in Chelsea had been broken into and clothes valued at £200 stolen. Papers were strewn about the floor and the intruder is believed to have been someone interested in the film business with which Mr. Amery is connected. Mr. Amery yesterday declared he and Miss Winn were more determined than ever to get married and planned to go to America at the end of the week to have the ceremony performed there.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELORED

Ingenious mothers sometimes offer suggestions that another mother has not thought of. As schools days approach some of these ideas may help solve the entertainment for a rainy day or make life easier for the busy housewife.

Mrs. C. wonders why I have never suggested sugar or flour sacks for diapers. "One can buy these very cheaply. They wear as well as the cotton flannel ones, are not so clammy when wet, and stay whiter after laundering."

SCRATCH PADS

"Here is a suggestion for making tablets upon which children can paste pictures or trace stencil or just scribble. Take a piece of wrapping paper, fold any desired size, then stitch through the centre with the long stitch on the sewing machine. Fold and press—another child made happy."

"Hose should be bought at least two sizes larger than needed in order to allow for shrinkage. After two washings they are usually just right. By having them sufficiently long one will be surprised at the saving in mending."

"I find that if children chafe easily, their undershirts may be too tight in the crotch. The garment may easily be lengthened by opening the shoulder seam and inserting a piece."

THE SCHOOL LUNCH

"My daughter loves apples, but there is not room for two small ones in her school lunch box and she cannot eat a large one at one time. I cut them in two and wrap each half in waxed paper."

"My children like puzzles. I clip the pictures from magazines and cut them in two or three pieces, more pieces for the larger ones. I keep the portions together in an envelope."

"They like odds and ends of wall paper for making paper doll dresses. And cutts from their worn out hose make nice tents for the dolls."

GARDENS

"This year the children each had a garden and I expect them to have one next year. Seed houses offer ten cent sample packages in their ads. I send for these and have them addressed to the children. They have a nice variety for their gardens and not too much of any one thing. Incidentally I never open their mail, but let them do this themselves."

"This is a nice assortment of suggestions. The sugar sacks seem to me rather coarse for diapering, but the flour sacks are not and despite their thinness are remarkably absorbent. They are very similar to the diapers made of hospital gauze which I recommend often."

Cinnamon and lemon added to prunes take away the monotony of the flavor and add interest.

Linoleum does not have to be scrubbed so often if varnished or shellacked, then waxed.

Sugar that gets lumpy will soften if it is kept in the bread box.

POPULAR PAIR WED SATURDAY

Miss Isabel C. Tautz Becomes Bride of Robert L. Lidstone

Two popular young people were united in marriage on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at Belmont United Church, when Rev. James Knox officiated at the wedding of Miss Isabel C. Tautz, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George F. Tautz of Maple Bay, to Robert Lawrence Lidstone, son of Mrs. T. J. Lidstone, Bay Street, Victoria. The bridegroom is a member of the mechanical staff of The Times, and the bride has been an employee of the Hudson's Bay Company for the last two years.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Horace F. Tautz, the bride looked charming in her sleeveless gown of flesh-pink embroidered nylon, made with cape collar and full, ankle-length skirt, a pink and a blue rose marking the waistline. With it she wore a large picture hat of pink mohair, trimmed with pink and blue velvet, and long silk lace mittens. Her bouquet was of sweet peas and roses. Miss Evelyn Hibberd, the only bridesmaid, was gown in rose velvet with a lace jacket, with which she wore a picture hat of rose mohair and carried a bouquet of sweet peas in rose and cream.

Mr. Arthur Rudge was best man, and Ronald Knott and Douglas Lidstone, brother of the bridegroom, acted as ushers. During the signing of the register the church organist played "Sail, d'Amour." The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, the ceremony being performed beneath a floral arch.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Tautz. Mrs. Tautz, wearing a handsome gown of grey georgette with grey hat en suite, and Mrs. Lidstone, mother of the bridegroom, in a smart ensemble of black satin trimmed with white fur and a becoming black hat, assisted the young couple in receiving the guests. The reception rooms were attractively arranged with pink and mauve sweet peas and other summer flowers. The three-tier wedding cake, surrounded with misty tulle in mauve shades, centered the daintily appointed supper table.

Mr. and Mrs. Lidstone, who were the recipients of many handsome gifts left later on a honeymoon down the coast as far as Portland, and on their return will reside in Victoria.

SHAW PLAY IS COMING HERE

"Too True to Be Good" to Be Presented in Canada By Maurice Colbourne

London, Aug. 30.—Maurice Colbourne and Barry Jones announce a new tour of Canada this season—to present George Bernard Shaw's latest play, "Too True to Be Good," in cities from Montreal to Victoria.

Beginning at Montreal on October 17, Colbourne and Jones will visit Toronto, Hamilton and London, Ont., after which they plan to present their other successes, "The Apple-cart" and "The Queen's Husband," in Winnipeg, Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria.

DEBATERS WILL APPEAR HERE

Service Clubs' Council to Sponsor Debate Between Local and British Team

The itinerary of the British debating team's Canadian tour to be made in November and December will include Victoria, it was learned yesterday. The Service Clubs' Council will sponsor an appearance in Victoria.

An announcement issued yesterday by George G. Edwards, secretary-treasurer of the Service Clubs' Council, stated that as it is desired to have the strongest possible local team all debating clubs should attend the preliminary debates. The services of well-known speakers will be obtained to act as judges for these events.

Full information can be obtained from George G. Edwards, of the Service Clubs' Council executive at his home, 1060 Southgate Street.

Scientists Discover Way to Decide Sex Before Birth

Ithaca, N.Y., Aug. 30.—A method by which parents may control sex of their children before birth, described as successful in seventy-seven out of seventy-eight trials, was reported yesterday at the International Congress of Genetics. It involves use of lactic acid to insure that the expected baby will be a girl, and bicarbonate of soda, an alkaline, to produce a boy. The method was worked out by Dr. F. Unterberger of Koelnberg, East Prussia, and was described here by Dr. Jacob Sanders of Rotterdam, Holland.

Boy babies were born to seventy-seven out of seventy-eight German women who used bicarbonate of soda, according to Dr. Unterberger's directions. Dr. Sanders said, "Many of them already had one or more girl babies, and had expressed a desire for a male child. The woman who used the method unsuccessfully was believed to have failed to follow directions. Testing the same method on rabbits, the use of lactic acid produced litters with twice as many females as males, and bicarbonate of soda reversed the proportion. Super-saturated solutions of lactic acid and soda produced, respectively, three females to one male and three males to one female."

WOMAN CLAIMS SHRINE CURE

After Attending Ontario Shrine Service, Discards Crutches and Walks

Canadian Club

Port Robinson, Ont., Aug. 30.—Mrs. William Farrar, mother of three children, returned from Martyr Shrine, Midland, Ont., without the aid of the crutches on which she left here Saturday.

The woman, a cripple with a spinal ailment for eight years, walked out of the shrine apparently cured, said Rev. Father Bernard Doyle, rector of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church.

Father Doyle was conducting mass at the shrine and noticed Mrs. Farrar start down the aisle at the conclusion of the service, walking on crutches. Near the door she dropped them and continued unaided.

Many Attended Garden Party At Home Of Pastor

The Knox Presbyterian Young People's Society held a very successful garden party, with sale of work and home-made candy stalls, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Patterson, 878 Esquimaux Road, Saturday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Patterson officially opened the party at 3 o'clock. The weather being exceptionally fine, many members and friends of the congregation attended and the society were greatly encouraged with the large crowd.

The president of the society, Bob Poullis, thanked the minister and Mrs. Patterson for the use of their grounds and home, on behalf of the society, and Miss Kathleen Priestley, secretary, presented Mrs. Patterson with a lovely bouquet of flowers.

During the afternoon tea was served on the veranda, Miss Louise Patterson, social convener, being in charge, assisted by Mrs. Reg Scobie, Misses Betty Campbell, Hilda Watson, Agnes and Margaret Roe, Grace and Agnes Stevenson, Kate McLean, Cathie Foubister, Ella Mitchell and Isla Mitchell.

Miss Beatrice Hawkins and Miss K. Priestley looked after sewing stall and tickets respectively.

During the afternoon the following took part in a delightful musical programme: Piano solo, Miss Helen Sweetland; soprano solo, Mrs. Margaret Poullis; tenor solo, Mr. Charles Storch; soprano solo, Mrs. Douglas Gossie; baritone solo, Mr. Douglas Cobbett; piano duet, Misses Cathie Foubister and Hilda Watson.

In the evening many more guests arrived and a very jolly evening was spent with a short musical programme by members of the society. Later a buffet supper was served in the dining room, the table being artistically arranged with rose and white carnations in silver vases. Mrs. Reginald Scobie poured tea. After this everyone adjourned to the drawing room, where they all joined in singing many old and new favorites. A very pleasant afternoon and evening was brought to a close by singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and "Auld Lang Syne."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

SEASONING IMPORTANT TO LIMA BEANS

By SISTER MARY

Lima beans come into market in abundance in late August and early September. These beans are a heartier food than the green beans of summer, and, according to the manner of serving, add many calories to the diet. Lima beans are almost four times richer in protein than string beans, but the vitamin content of the green beans is much higher than that of limas. Green beans are classed with the leafy vegetables as a "protective food."

There are several varieties of lima beans, tiny green ones, large green ones and large flat white ones, but they must all be gathered for immediate use before the milk becomes firm inside the tender shell-like covering. As the beans ripen, this covering grows hard and difficult to digest and the creamy centre becomes dry and unpalatable. No matter how long the beans are cooked, these conditions cannot be altered nor the vegetable improved.

The best way to serve lima beans that have been allowed to become over-ripe is to rub them through a sieve after cooking and use them in a puree or soufflé. This removes the tough, indigestible covering, but, of course, does not restore the delicate flavor.

Since beans are lacking in fat, this must be furnished in the seasoning. The most delicious way to serve lima beans is in pure cream. One-half cup cream seasoned with salt and pepper and added to two cups of cooked lima beans makes the addition of butter quite unnecessary. Heat cream to boiling point after pouring over beans, but do not let boil. The cream coats the beans lightly and prevents the dryness so many people dislike in lima beans.

If cream is not at hand, a thin sauce the consistency of thick cream can be substituted. Two tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon flour and 1 cup milk are the proportions to use to produce this sauce.

Always cook limas in as little water as possible and cook uncovered. Let the water cook away or use it in the sauce. If you add salt when the beans are put on to cook, there's danger of toughening the covering, but they have a better flavor if the salt is "cooked in" for half the cooking period. Allow thirty to forty minutes for beans to cook and form the habit of shaking the pan in which they are cooking. The flatness of lima beans often causes them to stick to the bottom of the pan and scorch even when there is plenty of water over them. Shaking the pan prevents this without crushing the beans, as stirring would.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast—Oatmeal, cereal, corn omelet, blueberry muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Open tomato and bacon sandwiches, minted apples with whip-cream, nut cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Fried spring chicken, cream gravy, mashed potatoes, lima beans in cream, onion and cucumber salad, pea purée, coconut macarons, milk, coffee.

Resume Sewing Meetings—The weekly sewing meetings of the W.A. to St. Joseph's Hospital will be resumed on Friday afternoon, and all members are reminded to be present.

Mirrors that are rubbed with tissue paper crushed into a ball will respond with a radiant clearness and sparkle.

Pure soap and warm water are excellent for washing mahogany furniture.

A pinch of soda placed in the water while peas are boiling will make them retain their color.

VII—READY FOR AN ECLIPSE

As we leave Mars behind us, you look back and exclaim: "I can see a large white patch on Mars!"

"Did you ever see a total eclipse?"

"Yes, I saw a total eclipse of the sun at Ithaca, N.Y., several years ago."

"What was it like?"

"It was a grand sight, one of the most beautiful I have ever seen. The moon moved right over the face of the sun. Of course I used a smoked glass before the eclipse was total. It is dangerous to look at the sun for more than a second or two unless you protect your eyes."

"Could you use a dark camera film?"

"Yes, that would do as well as smoked glass."

"How does it happen that an eclipse is total on some parts of the earth and is partial or cannot be seen at all from other places?"

"Because the moon is not large enough to block out all the light of the sun. The eclipse due on Wednesday will make a dark path from Cape Cod through Canada. Montreal will be in darkness."

"During the eclipse at Ithaca were you able to see the stars?"

"Yes, I could see some of the stars. I did not notice many of them, but I saw a few. This is proof that the stars shine all the time. The sunlight hides them—or floods them out—in the daytime, but they are shining just the same."

Carbon Monoxide Menace Remains Despite Campaigns

Proper Ventilation Offers Certain Prevention
By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN

With the coming of the first cold spell, newspapers will begin to contain new accounts of persons who have died from overexposure to carbon monoxide gas. Indeed, there have appeared frequently throughout the summer records of men who died while under their automobiles with the engines running in closed garages.

The report of the Ohio State Department of Health just made public indicated seventy persons who took a chance with this dangerous gas in connection with domestic heating appliances and eighty-two in connection with automobile exhaust fumes during the year ended June 30, 1932.

The chief domestic appliances involved in the records of such accidents are heaters without flues used in bedrooms and bathrooms, and occasionally a kitchen gas range or a hot plate.

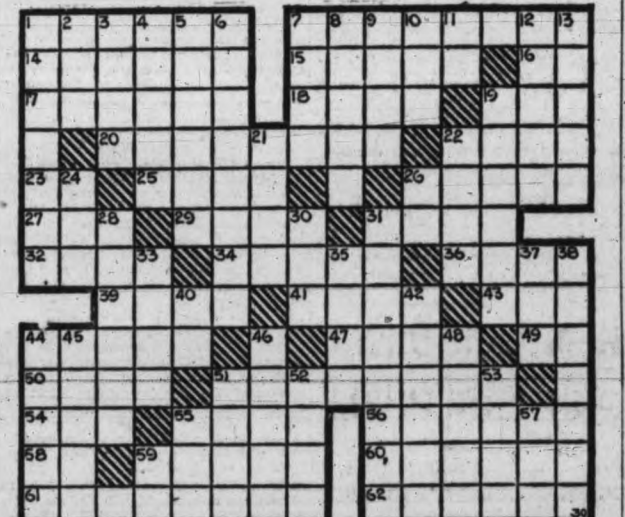

Three deaths occurred among tramps living in a shanty, who used charcoal in a bucket for heating purposes.

It is pointed out that Benjamin Franklin was so impressed with the danger from this combination that he invented the stove or the furnace and gave the patent rights free to the world in 1750.

A few people thought that they could get more heat out of a gas flame by putting something on top of it, such as a plate or a bread toaster and instead released a sufficient amount of carbon monoxide poison gas into the room to make them seriously sick or to cause death.

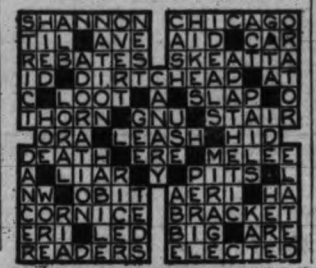

There were eighty-two cases of

Answer to Previous Puzzle

NOW SHOWING IN CAPITOL FEATURE

A scene from "Two Seconds," which opened to-day at the Capitol Theatre, starring Edward G. Robinson, Vivienne Osborne and J. Carrol Nash.

JOAN CRAWFORD AT THE EMPIRE

Joan Crawford, who seems to give fresh evidence of an unusual acting talent—with her every succeeding vehicle, is at her dramatic best in "Possessed," now playing at the Empire Theatre for three days.

The picture, based on the Edgar Selwyn stage play, "The Mirage," gives the star her most serious role since "Paid"—that of a poor factory girl who, anxious to better her position in life, becomes involved in an affair with a young politician of wealth and social standing.

Since politics and scandal are never far apart, our heroine soon discovers that her name is being used to advantage in an insidious campaign to prevent the man she loves from being nominated for governor. Her heroic attempt to save his political career at the risk of her own happiness makes for a drama of considerable power and one which keeps its audience constantly on the alert as to what will happen next.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Edward G. Robinson's latest First National starring vehicle, "Two Seconds," which is now at the Capitol Theatre, unfolds in an hour of tense drama a story which only takes two seconds in thought.

The two-second thought which becomes a one-hour film drama took five weeks to film and required a large cast of specially selected players, specially constructed sets and many hours of executive conferences.

Also on the same programme is "Week-end Marriage." Proof that members of the Hollywood film colony are ardent theatre-goers is evident in the fact that all the stage players who play Los Angeles are inevitably snared into the movies. Roscoe Karns, who scored highly as Hildy Johnson in the Los Angeles production of "The Front Page," and Aline MacMahon, who was seen there in "Once in a Lifetime," are both in the cast of "Week-end Marriage," the First National picture, featuring Loretta Young and Norman Foster.

DOMINION THEATRE

"Devil and the Deep," first film co-starring Tallulah Bankhead and Gary Cooper, ends its showing at the Dominion Theatre to-day.

The action is set in a small port on the north coast of Africa, where Miss Bankhead's husband, a role played by Charles Laughton, noted British character actor, is stationed as commander of a submarine.

Though Laughton is affable and genial in social life, at home he is brutal and horribly jealous of his wife. The least attention she pays to any other man he takes as a sign of infidelity.

Into this situation steps Cooper. In a strange and compromising manner, he and Miss Bankhead fall in love, and when Laughton discovers the fact, he plans revenge.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

David Wark Griffith has added sound to his masterpiece "Way Down East," which in the opinion of many motion picture critics remains unchallenged as the best of all romantic melodramas of the screen, and has released the picture for a second-world tour. "Way Down East" is being shown to-day at the Columbia Theatre. The cast of "Way Down East" includes Lillian Gish in the starring role, supported by Richard Barthelmess and Lowell Sherman.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

The contrast between youth and old age is exemplified in scenes played between Tom Ricketts and Lella Hyams in "Surrender," the William K.

KIDD REPORT

$12,000,000 Spent Already on Relief

Taking up the problem of unemployment relief, the Kidd committee in the report points out that since the beginning of the depression and up until June 15, 1932, there has been spent on unemployment relief in British Columbia, not less than $12,000,000, of which approximately $5,000,000 is payable by the Dominion Government, $5,000,000 by the provincial government and $2,000,000 by municipalities.

"At the present time, the province is spending $300,000 a month on both direct relief and works," the report goes on. "If this is necessary for the summer months, the outlook for the winter is serious."

"It is to be observed that no expenditures for this relief are included in the budget. The government treats all these expenditures as capital expenditures."

"We recommend the appointment of a small but experienced and capable committee to prepare plans for the relief of the unemployed. Such plans must be prepared in the light not only of the present and future requirements but also in the light of such funds as may be available."

Provincial Credit

On the question of the financial credit of the British Columbia Government, the Kidd report says:

"It may be suggested that so frank an exposure of the affairs of our government as is contained in this report will prove prejudicial to the credit of our province. With this view we entirely disagree. The policy of the report is to place before the public a true picture of the situation. It is our belief that the approach of danger does not appeal to us, and in any case, we must assume that our banks and financial institutions are aware of our difficulties. Further, we are of opinion that nothing will more rapidly re-establish our credit than a courageous recognition of our true position and, more than that, a determination to insist on a policy of economy and reform. And more im-

A ruling was sought as to whether the council had power to grant a monopoly for staging of wrestling shows.

R. N. Collison, of 786 St. Patrick Street, was the winner of a new shingle roof donated by the Victoria Shingle Manufacturers and Shingling Experts of Victoria. The winning guess was 1,547, there being 1,548 nails in the roof. The contest was held in conjunction with the fair.

Purchase of approximately $7,000 worth of Saskatchewan 6 per cent bonds, maturing in 1952, from the sewer loan sinking fund, and of about $500 worth of P.E.C. 4 per cent stock, maturing in 1942, from the High School sinking fund, was authorized by the Esquimalt Council at its meeting yesterday evening.

New students who intend to attend the Saanich high schools will be registered on Tuesday afternoon, between 2 and 4 o'clock, at the schools they will attend. Children to attend primary schools will be registered at Cloverdale, Tillamook and Tolmie schools next Friday afternoon, between 2 and 4 o'clock.

Reduction of nearly 8 per cent in school expenditures for the first eight months of the year as compared with the corresponding period last year was shown in financial statements submitted at the regular meeting of the school board yesterday afternoon. Out of an estimate of $504,357 for 1932-33, expenditures to date have been $304,950, as compared with $324,058 up to this date last year.

Premier Tolmie will open the new Mountview High School at 2 p.m. on Monday next. Committees are working on the afternoon and evening events enjoyable. At 8 p.m. the curtain will rise on a splendid entertainment, for which a nominal charge will be asked. The proceeds will be used for the Mountview P.T.A. toward school activities. The school will be open for inspection immediately following the evening entertainment, when guests will be on hand to show visitors through the school.

Inspector T. W. S. Parsons, of the Provincial Police, announced this morning it had been reported to him that Mr. Hamilton of Estevan Point, had captured a pigeon on August 28. The pigeon was almost exhausted when picked up by Mr. Hamilton. The bird had two leg bands, a rubber one bearing the inscription E 876, and a metal band carrying the numbers N.R.C. 32-972. Local racing and carrier pigeon enthusiasts are of the opinion that the bird is of Vancouver or Seattle origin.

Mrs. E. M. Cameron, Widow of Railway Builder, Is Dead

Mrs. Evelyn M. Cameron died yesterday evening at the family residence, 750 Bay Street, after a long illness. She was the widow of the late Robert A. Cameron, one of the railway construction experts engaged by the late James Dunsmuir for the building of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway.

Mrs. Cameron was a member of the Victoria branch of the distinguished Anglo-Scottish Society. She was born in Scotland and came to this country in 1888. She was active in many charitable fields until the outbreak of the great war, when her health failed, and she was unable to continue her work. She was the mother of four children, three sons and one daughter. She is survived by her daughter, Miss Charles R. Cameron, and her son, Robert B. Cameron.

The remains are being deposited at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Company's Chapel, where the funeral will take place on Thursday morning at 8.30 o'clock, proceeding to St. Andrew's Catholic Cathedral, where Mass for the repose of the soul will be celebrated at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

DIE IN HOSPITAL

Mr. Grimwood was born in England and came to Canada thirty years ago, having resided here since. He is survived by his father, residing in Wolverstone, England, and one brother and four sisters, all residing in England. Funeral arrangements will be made later.

SEES VALUE OF CONTACTS

Publicity Bureau Agent in Portland Warm in Praise of Business Tours

Looks For Big Returns From Work Already Done When Conditions Improve

"I feel perfectly safe in saying the contact trips made by Mayor David Leeming, Herbert Anson and George L. Warren, in the interests of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, have laid the foundation for a big future tourist business. They certainly did fine work."

That is the opinion of Oliver Hollingsworth, the local bureau's contact man in Portland, here to-day.

Another constructive force in the building up of appreciation in the minds of tourists for the southern part of British Columbia and Victoria lay in the courteous treatment accorded visitors from the United States by officers in the Canadian Customs Service, Mr. Hollingsworth said.

"On all sides tourists commented most favorably on this courtesy," he added.

LEGIONAIRES HAVE A HERE
Possibility of having a large number of American Legionnaires visit the city is seen by the Portland contact man. The big convention of the Legion will open on September 12 in the Rose City. The information office for the convention has been well supplied with literature and publicity matter on Victoria and it is expected some of the easterners will come up to this city before returning to their homes.

Portland is looking forward to this convention to make up to a certain extent the drop in tourist travel experienced there this season.

Mr. Hollingsworth was warm in his praise of the splendid co-operation shown by the region State Motor Association to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. They had given him an office in their headquarters and had very willingly contributed literature on the city and Island.

TOUR GREAT SUCCESS
Referring to the recent tour of Herbert Anson and George L. Warren down the Pacific Coast, he stated Portland had accorded the Victorians an exceptionally warm welcome and had been greatly impressed with the publicity talks of Mr. Anson.

From a study of the publicity bureau from his vantage point in Portland, Mr. Hollingsworth had learned Victoria had done much better than most of the other resorts. With the return of normal conditions he expected a record year for the city, since the vast majority of tourists with whom he had come in contact regarded this city as the ideal place for a holiday.

VICTORIANS IN SWIM MARATHON
Stan Witty, Jack Foyer and George Taylorson Compete in Toronto Event To-morrow

Canadian Press
Toronto, Aug. 30.—Three non-chalant youngsters from Victoria to-day passed the medical examination and are ready for the Canadian National Exhibition's fifteen-mile swimming marathon in Lake Ontario, scheduled for to-morrow. They are Stan Witty, Jack Foyer and George Taylorson. The trio hitch-hiked from the coast. Taylorson, who left his companions at Hamilton some days ago, arrived here to-day just too late, officially, to get into the big splash. However, after talking to Elwood Goodrich, director of the exhibition, Taylorson managed to squeeze into a vacant spot and will jump in with more than 200 others.

LOCAL FIGS AT TORONTO SHOW

Figs from the Sidney Experimental Farm and A. J. Morley's orchard, taken east by J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, are a feature of the Dominion Government Exhibit at the Toronto Exhibition, to-day. They arrived in Toronto in excellent condition.

Mr. Munro advised that the convention of the National Advisory Council on Agricultural Services is progressing satisfactorily. This convention is being attended by ministers and deputies of agriculture, as well as dealers and other experts, with a view to consolidating as far as possible federal and provincial activities in agricultural services so that duplication of services may be avoided.

SEEKING LOST BOAT PARTIES

Four Launch Occupants and Two Canoeists Believed Drowned in Howe Sound

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 30.—Search continued to-day for the four occupants of a sixteen-foot launch which was found adrift in Howe Sound Sunday, and for two canoeists who failed to return from Hopkins Landing, Howe Sound, after leaving for what was to have been a short paddle. With no report of the six missing persons, it is believed they were lost in the rough seas tossed up by a northwest wind.

Those missing from the launch are Robert Wilson, William Cummings, Howard Johnston and Harry Hughes, all of Vancouver, and from the canoe, George Olsen, Hopkins Landing, and Fred Gillespie, Vancouver.

Howard Johnston is the son of Dr. Johnston of Burgessville, near Woodstock, Ont. His wife and young son are now visiting Burgessville.

Birthday Greetings Are Extended To-day To—

A. V. KING
R. A. ANDERSON

A. V. King, well-known shoe man of Victoria, is celebrating his birthday to-day. A former star in amateur hockey, "Vic" now confines his sports activities to golf. Besides being a popular member of the Kiwanis Club, he is a director and has done much good work in the past. He is well known in the Elks Club, to which organization he has belonged for a number of years. He is the proprietor of King's Shoe Store, Yates Street.

R. A. Anderson, old-time resident of Victoria, is celebrating his birthday to-day. Mr. Anderson came to Victoria over forty years ago and liked the place so well that he has never been away from it since. Since coming here he has been connected with the firm of Mable's, auto body builders. For over fifteen years Mr. Anderson was a member of the Esquimalt Council, and many of the improvements in the municipality are a direct result of his untiring work. He lives at 851 Craigflower Road.

GIVE REPORTS ON CONVENTION

Local Kiwanians Hear Features of District Gathering at Bellingham

Various phases of the Kiwanis district convention in Bellingham last week were reviewed by different local delegates at the Victoria club's regular luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

W. Ellis Brown, president, referred to the enthusiasm shown by the delegates and the interesting discussions during the different meetings.

Mr. Brown remarked upon the obsequiousness shown by the delegates during the different meetings.

Opening ceremonies, addresses and reports were sketched by Walter Walker.

CHANGES IN BY-LAWS

Various changes in the by-laws, affecting the constitution, were effected. Seaside, Oregon, was awarded the next district convention and various district officers were elected.

Wm. Loney outlined the financial status of the district, showing that in spite of a deficit this year, a substantial balance was left on hand.

Harold Higgin explained the abolition of the post of district trustee.

By doing away with that office about $1,400 was saved annually.

A new district with a special lieutenant-governor, and been created.

Mr. Loney stated. The costs of this offset the saving made by the abolition of the district trustee.

MANY PAY THEIR FINAL TRIBUTE

A large number of friends attended the funeral yesterday of Philip Dorset Goodrich, passed away at Qualicum Beach last Friday. The service was held at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, Rev. Canon A. E. L. Nunn officiating, assisted by Rev. R. M. Verburgh, Bishop Schofield and Rev. Canon F. A. Chadwick were also in attendance. The surplined choir was in attendance, and led in the singing of "When My Day of Life is Over," "When My Day of Life is Over" and "Abide With Me."

Interment was made at Ross Bay Cemetery, the following acting as pallbearers: Sir Richard Lake, Capt. C. F. L. Money, H. M. S. Bell, W. H. Bullock-Webster, C. W. Pangman and C. T. Treadwell.

In honor of services rendered his country, Mr. Goodrich was borne to his last resting place with the casket draped with the Union Jack, and further tribute of remembrance and respect was paid by the many beautiful floral tributes received.

R. McNAIR DIES IN VANCOUVER

For Long a Leading Figure in British Columbia Shingle Industry

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 30.—Robert McNair, aged seventy-five, a leading figure in British Columbia's shingle industry and founder of the McNair Shingle Company, died at his home on Granville Street, yesterday evening.

Mr. McNair, who was several times president of the B.C. Shingle Manufacturing Association, was stricken suddenly yesterday while at lunch in a downtown cafe. He was conveyed to his home in an ambulance, but failed to regain consciousness.

STOCK SALESMEN ARE CONVICTED

Fines of $1,000 Or Six Months Imposed on Three Vancouver Men

First Case Here Under Security Frauds Prevention Act

Fines of $1,000 each, or six months' imprisonment, the maximum penalty under the act, were ordered by Magistrate George Jay in the City Police Court this morning against William L. Turfitt, Alfred G. Pearce and F. Warren Cottrell of Vancouver for contravention of the Security Frauds Prevention Act.

It was the first prosecution here under this legislation, passed by the House in 1930 as a protective measure for the public, following the big stock crash in 1929.

The defendants were not present for the hearing. Knox Courtney appeared before the court and stated Turfitt and Pearce could not pay their fares to Victoria in order to appear and that Cottrell was wanted in Vancouver on a bench warrant. Mr. Courtney did not represent them at the hearing.

Prosecution of the three was instituted by the Attorney-General's department, following an inquiry into their activities in connection with the sale of shares in the Delta Gas Company. W. H. Bullock-Webster conducted the case. They were alleged to have traded in securities without being registered brokers or salesmen of registered brokers.

VICTORIANS VICTIMIZED
Two local residents told the court how Turfitt had approached them, once with Cottrell and once with Pearce, and had sold them altogether 11,000 shares at eight cents a share. While they had received an acknowledgment of the sale from the Northwest Securities, under which name the three operated, they had never received the shares, they said.

TOLD OF PLANS
They were approached as former shareholders of the Boundary Bay Oil Company and were told the "Atlas Finance Company" of London, Eng., intended to invest $125,000 in sinking the wells for the Delta Gas Company. They were to be allowed in on the ground floor before the shares went on the public market.

Mr. Bullock-Webster told the court the Delta Gas Company was a Canadian company, but not registered in British Columbia.

No defence was offered in the absence of the accused.

The magistrate said it was a case for imposition of the maximum fine. There appeared no doubt that a fraud had been perpetrated, he added.

MANY KILLED IN QUITO FIGHT

Situation at Ecuador Capital Described as Chaotic During Civil War

Associated Press
Quayquil, Ecuador, Aug. 30.—The governor of this province received a telegram to-day from Alberto Martinez, president of the Ecuador Senate, that the situation at Quito was chaotic, and that Conservative forces backing Neptali Bonifaz were being directed by friars guiding the attack on federal forces from church towers.

A conservative revolution had developed since the mutiny of part of the army garrison on Saturday, the message said. There was still no legal government, and it appeared a Conservative dictatorship was in control, despite earlier reports that the government was in the saddle. Senator Martinez asked for reinforcements, and these were sent immediately by train.

Dispatches of the civil fighting there was still in progress. Federal troops advancing from the north crossed the city and joined troops from the south. The streets were littered with human bodies, but the fighting continued.

LORD HAILSHAM VISITS BANFF

Banff, Aug. 31.—Holidaying in the Canadian Rockies between the arduous days of the Imperial Conference at Ottawa and the convention of the Canadian Bar Association, which opens at the Palliser Hotel in Calgary to-morrow, Lord Hailsham, Secretary of State for War, in British administration and leader of the House of Lords, is spending several days in the Banff Springs Hotel, accompanied by Lady Hailsham.

The distinguished statesman, who is Lord Chancellor in the British administration and has a long and distinguished record both in law and politics, is devoting most of his time to sight seeing. The visit here is an important part of a carefully planned Canadian itinerary which is being completed over Canada Pacific lines in the private car "Van Horne."

Lord Hailsham is Britain's delegate to the Bar Association's meeting, and will address the convention on the Imperial Conference and matters contingent upon it.

THE SPORIS MIRROR

George Young Again Favored To Capture $7,500 First Prize

Henry Prusoff Carries Tennis Campaign Into Tougher Fields

Seattle Flash Being Sent To Big Tournaments In California

Seven-time Champion Good Representative For Northwest

Strong Men, Lacking Ability, Prove Easy Marks in the Ring

HENRY "HANK" PRUSOFF, Seattle star, who dominated Pacific northwest tennis tournaments this summer, in en route to California in quest of greater honors. He will participate in the Pacific southwest and Pacific coast championships at Los Angeles and Berkeley. The invasion of southern courts is the most important net pilgrimage taken by a Pacific northwest player in recent years, as the tournaments will rank second only to the United States championships at Forest Hills in importance and caliber of competition. Prusoff displayed his ability here this season, winning the British Columbia title at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club court.

Prusoff will be a worthy standard-bearer for the northwest in these meets, as he is the only champion in this territory for the season. He made practically a clean sweep of the northwest circuit, playing the most sensational tennis of his career. He is being sent to the big California meets to gain experience so that next year he may have an opportunity to play in eastern tournaments, the fastest in the United States.

That Prusoff will get the finest playing experience of his career during his southern invasion is indicated by the fact that ten players of the ranking twenty-five in the world will play at Los Angeles and Berkeley. That means that Prusoff will face the stiffest and toughest rivals against which a northwest player has ever been sent.

Henri Cochet, French champion and Davis Cup star; Ellsworth Vines, United States champion; Baron de Stefani, Italian Davis Cup player; Fred Perry, England; Johnny Van Ryn, Wilmer Allison and other United States luminaries are entered in the tournaments.

Of equal importance in Prusoff's tennis education to the fact that he will get the experience of facing the best in the world on the court is the fact that he will have ten practice days in Los Angeles before the meet, which will be utilized to work under the coaching of William Mace, the Los Angeles coach. Mace is regarded as the king-pin teacher of flat strokes, the perfection of which is truly important to a champion's game.

Although he will go south backed by a marvelous season of play, Prusoff is not expected to do more than make a strong showing in there, as his competition will be of a kindly variety. He is, however, certain to return home a much improved player and considerably further advanced along the path that leads to national ranking.

A six-foot seven-inch slugger named Ray Impellitteri made an impressive opening of his professional career by knocking out the Portuguese star, Jose Santa. Ray is supposed to have been in training for six years. During that time he has not fought in the ring, but was learning boxing and developing speed.

Ray is not the only big man who went through a long period of training before beginning his ring career. Coughlin, a big, tough truck driver, was trained and trained for the ring. He was supposed to know all about jabs and crosses. For his start in the ring his manager picked an "easy" opponent, Bob Fitzsimmons.

Old Bob stood in his corner like an eagle staring at its prey. The bell rang. Ruby Bob feinted once, then socked Coughlin on the jaw. Coughlin's arms dropped to his sides. He was gone. Bob was puzzled. He tried to get on to wake up and make a fight of it. Coughlin tried to lift his hands. He was bewildered and could not get started. Old Fitz looked apologetically at the referee as if reluctant to punch again; tapped Coughlin on the jaw. Down went the long-trained truck driver and his career with him.

Pigeon Racing

The Victoria and District Racing Pigeon Club held a special young bird race from Chu-Chu, a distance of 230 miles, over the week-end. This was the first time this long distance has been attempted with young birds. Twenty picked birds entered, and 80 per cent were home in race time. Rain and high winds made a hard race, but the winners made good times under the conditions. The birds were liberated at 6:30 o'clock in the morning.

The winners follow:

R. Dickson	H.M.S.
W. R. Tait	9.42.22
J. B. Woot	9.43.00
G. Stewart	9.45.00

FIVEPIN LEAGUE MEETING CALLED

A meeting of the Olympic Senior Fivepin League has been called for Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Olympic Alleys. All delegates of last year's teams are asked to attend. It is planned to enlarge the league this season, a number of the leading bowlers from the Commercial League having signified their intention of moving up into faster company.

Toronto Star Who Swam All Opposition Into Exhaustion Last Year Picked to Repeat in World's Richest Marathon; Prize Money Totals $11,000; Ernst Vierkotter Will Make His Last Attempt; Marvin Nelson, Winner in 1930, Reported in Fine Shape

Toronto, Aug. 30.—Sensational speed and distance stars, world record holders, national and regional champions, dark horses and others, close to 300 swimmers were all set for the fifteen-mile marathon in Lake Ontario which the Canadian National Exhibition is staging for the fifth successive year to-morrow as one of the pro sport features of the largest of annual expositions.

COMPETING FOR THE LAST TIME

ERNST VIERKOTTER, veteran German swimmer, who will make his last attempt in the annual Toronto fifteen-mile marathon to-morrow. Famously known as "Cologne's Black Shark," Vierkotter is getting old but is still a dangerous competitor.

EAGLES WILL MEET TAIYOS

Twilight Baseball League Clubs Engage in First Game of Play-off To-night

The Eagles, who finished in first place in the Twilight Baseball League race, will meet the flashy Taiyos, Japanese champions, in the first game of the post-season play-offs at the Royal Athletic Park to-night at 6 o'clock. The Japanese club gained the right to meet the birdmen by disposing of the Rosebuds in the preliminary series.

Carr, youthful pitcher and first-string hurler in the Eagles' camp, is expected to go to the mound in this important fixture. Woodford will be his battery mate.

Isidra, leading hurler for the Taiyos, will get the call for mound duty to-night, with Manager Masao Kuwana completing the battery.

With squads at full strength, a great tussle is expected.

LAWN-BOWLING

Burnside lawn bowlers held their annual prize competition yesterday evening. Sixteen teams with two men and one woman on each were engaged. The four leaders in the opening play were captured by Fred Harman, George Davidson, all with plus scores of 15, 14, 12 and 9, respectively.

These four will play each other to decide their final order of merit, commencing at 6:45 o'clock this evening.

OLD OARSMEN END "BIG RACE"

Over half a century ago two strapping young oarsmen, E. J. "Red" Wall, Victoria, and Alex McLean, New Westminster, drove their slender shells over the local and mainland courses in quest of British Columbia championships. For two years Wall captured the prized award and finally yielded it to McLean.

For several seasons after, the pair rowed against one another, now one winning, now the other.

In the course of the competition they became great friends.

Last week they completed their final laps in the race of life. E. J. Wall "crossed the line" on August 26. Alex McLean "crossed" on August 26. Both were eighty-one years old.

This distance crawl has now become a classic test of a swimmer's abilities. The cash prizes total $11,000 this year and the winner gets the title of world professional championship as part of the kudos. In the past, the race has been won by such marine ace as Ernst Vierkotter, Cologne's Black Shark; Marvin Nelson, an Iowa Kid from Fort Dodge; Eddie Keating, the New York aquatic star, and George Young of Toronto, first-famous as the Catalina conqueror. There have been squads of channel conquerors, European sensations, winners of vague and varied trophies, ex-amateur record-holders and Olympic competitors who did not quite make the grade over the fifteen-mile stretch.

From the standpoint of athletic competition, seventy-five super and super-trained performers who have been going through daily trials since April usually set a fast pace and stage a race that keeps spectators hanging over the seawall for nearly a full day.

But the average attendance runs around the 200,000 mark. The show is free to anyone.

Young Vierkotter, Germany's channel swimmer, will do his farewell marathon. The shark is getting old. He has slowed up with the years, but he is still a powerful and dangerous competitor swimming with machine-like precision at a speed that rarely varies from start to finish.

Young Vierkotter, Germany's channel swimmer, will do his farewell marathon. The shark is getting old. He has slowed up with the years, but he is still a powerful and dangerous competitor swimming with machine-like precision at a speed that rarely varies from start to finish.

Italy has a powerful entrant in Giovanni Gamba, erstwhile European titleholder, winner of Parisian, Berlin and Havana events. He has a specialty of winning the style which takes plenty of vigor and makes a specialty of setting a ferocious clip for the first mile. If he lasts without tiring, the spaghetti-eaters may well load the parade.

Last year, he preceded all navigators along the course till he swam himself unconscious and burst into tears when he placed second to whom? To Isidra Sponder, Canadian youth, whom Nelson once bested by yards. All these stars, after an sensational fifteen-mile swim, are expected to finish all the distance in times that bettered the world mark for professionals.

Marvin Nelson, Fort Dodge, 1930 winner, is obviously better than the dark horse, indeed on hand to pet the crowd. He has a specialty of winning the style which takes plenty of vigor and makes a specialty of setting a ferocious clip for the first mile. If he lasts without tiring, the spaghetti-eaters may well load the parade.

AN EXCEPTION

An exception is the New Yorker, Bill Goli, who, by virtue of the fact that he placed second to whom? To Isidra Sponder, Canadian youth, whom Nelson once bested by yards. All these stars, after an sensational fifteen-mile swim, are expected to finish all the distance in times that bettered the world mark for professionals.

There is, in 1932, an excellent spot for a dark horse and there are plenty of dark horses indeed on hand to pet the crowd. He has a specialty of winning the style which takes plenty of vigor and makes a specialty of setting a ferocious clip for the first mile. If he lasts without tiring, the spaghetti-eaters may well load the parade.

CHANCE FOR AN OUTSIDER

There is, in 1932, an excellent spot for a dark horse and there are plenty of dark horses indeed on hand to pet the crowd. He has a specialty of winning the style which takes plenty of vigor and makes a specialty of setting a ferocious clip for the first mile. LACROSSE PRACTICE

A practice of the Victoria lacrosse team will be held this evening at Central Park. All players are requested to be on hand for the work-out in preparation for the game to be held in Vancouver on Saturday evening.

Joe Addison Takes Junior Track Title

Victoria Youth Captured 440-Yard Crown in Junior Olympiad at Vancouver

Finishes Second in 220-Yard Event; Art Chapman Places Second in Hurdles

Vancouver, Aug. 30.—Thirteen Junior Olympic championships were decided at the first British Columbia Junior Olympiad here yesterday and two competitors walked away with two titles each. Both double winners were Vancouver lads. Stanley Barrett took the 100-yard dash in 16 seconds flat, and repeated in the 220 yards in 33 1-5 seconds. Donald McKenzie won the 880-yard event in 2 minutes 3 3-5 seconds and covered the mile route in 4 minutes 51 3-5 seconds to again place first.

Joe Addison, fleet-footed youth from Victoria, swept over the 440-yard event in 81 seconds flat to win the title in one of the keenest events on the programme. Addison had to step fast all the way to ward off the challenge of Marshall Limon, Vancouver lad, but the Capital City boy was quite capable of the feat.

Joe Haley, Trail expert at the high jump, had things most his own way in winning the high jump title, although he was kept on his toes by several of his competitors in the early stages. Haley's winning jump was five feet ten and three-quarter inches.

WINS AFTER TIE

The pole vault went to Milton Parsons, Vancouver, with a vault of eleven feet two and one-half inches, also recorded by John Russell, another Vancouver youth. After both had cleared the bar at that height, it was shifted up to eleven feet six inches, where both missed. Bringing the bar back down to eleven feet two and one-half inches, Parsons cleared while Russell missed.

Martin Naylor, Vancouver, won the 120-yard dash in 16 1-5 seconds, one foot four and one-half inches. With a toss of 126 feet 11 inches, Haddon Agnew, Vancouver, won the javelin throw title, while the javelin throw championship was won by Robert McGuire, Salmon Arm, who made a throw of 140 feet 11 inches.

The 12-pound shotput title was won by Bob Waters, New Westminster, who threw the heavy ball 48 feet 1 inch. N. P. Bower, Oryama, won the hammer throw title with a toss of 131 feet 11 inches.

CHAMPION BEATEN

Homer Cochrane, Vernon, was the first champion of the day to be crowned. He took the 120-yard 3-foot hurdles in 15 3-5 seconds in a close battle with Art Chapman, Victoria, who was considered the favorite. Cochrane made the leaps in splendid style and landed perfectly for the dash to the tape.

P.G.A. EVENT GETS STARTED

Annual Marathon Tournament For Pro Golf Title in U.S. Opens at St. Paul

St. Paul, Aug. 30.—Golf's longest marathon, the annual professional Golfers' Association championship, moved into its first lap to-day with 103 struggling to win thirty-one holes that lead toward the throne room.

Only one pro. had his place won and that the defending champion, Tom Creavy, Albany, N.Y., an automatic qualifier. All the others, among them far more famed marksmen of golf, were confronted with a thirty-six-hole medal play qualifying test.

Except for Gene Sarazen and Leo Diegel, who failed to qualify, virtually every professional of note was in the big drive over the Keller course and a guess as to the ultimate winner in the 216 holes, six-day championship battle, was as good as another.

Creavy, as champion, ranked among the favorites but was somewhat overshadowed by such veterans as "Light Horse" Harry Cooper, Chicago, Canadian open champion and winner of the $10,000 St. Paul open over the same Keller layout in 1930; Walter Hagen, Detroit, five times champion of the P.G.A. event, and so determined to add another that he came on the scene a day ahead of time for practice; Tommy Armour, Detroit, master iron shotmaker; Billy Burke, Greenwich, Conn., 1921 United States open champion, and a host of others, including Horton Smith, Johnny Farrell, Paul Runyan, John Gledhill, Olin Dutra, Ed Dudley, Al Watrous and Joe Turnesa.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—Johnny Jekola, sturdy Finn, who makes his home in Toronto, Monday night won the first night professional marathon over staged in this city, defeating a field of twenty-eight runners at the baseball stadium.

Jekola covered the Olympic marathon distance of 26 miles 383 yards in the fast time of 2:29:24, winning $500. The first seven finished in the money, splitting $1,000 among them.

The Toronto Finn finished a full lap ahead of Mast Saxeberg, Montreal.

Double Win Places New York Close To American Pennant

Yankees Continue Terrific Pace by Taking Two From Chicago White Sox; Gomez Chalks Up Twenty-second Pitching Victory; Washington Opens Belated Drive; Athletics Split Pair With Detroit; National League Teams Are Idle

Having got wind, perhaps, of the rumor that their manager is in active danger of losing his job at the close of the current race, the Washington Senators have started a belated drive that promises to do Walter Johnson a lot of good.

Leading Batters In Major Leagues

Leaders in the various divisions in the major baseball leagues follow:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Batting—O'Doul, Dodgers, .364.
Runs—Klein, Phillies, 153.
Hits—Klein, Phillies, 153.
Runs batted in—Hurt, Phillies, 124.
Doubles—P. Waner, Pirates, 52.
Triples—Herman, Reds, 16.
Home runs—Klein, Phillies, 35.
Stolen bases—Klein, Phillies, 20.
Pitching—Warneke, Cubs, won 19, lost 5.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Batting—Fox, Athletics, .338.
Runs—Fox, Athletics, 127.
Hits—Manush, Senators, 176.
Runs batted in—Fox, Athletics, 138.

Home runs—Fox, Athletics, 47.
Stolen bases—Chapman, Yankees, 33.
Pitching—Allan, Yankees, won 14, lost 2.

The failure of the Rochester Redwings, backed by the resources of the St. Louis Cardinals, to hit upon a winning combination this year, has provided the international league with one of its major surprises.

ALEX. WILSON IS DEFEATED

Canada's Great Runner Is Beaten in 880 Yards at Vancouver By Eddie Genuing

"Chuck" Cunningham, Victoria, Is Fourth; Pole Vaulters Battle to Tie

Vancouver, Aug. 30.—E. Genuing, United States athletic star, outstepped Alex Wilson, Montreal's blonde middle distance runner, in the 880-yard run by a few inches to win the feature event of the post Olympic Games here yesterday. Genuing's time was 1:52 1-5.

Away with a fast start, Wilson set the pace until the stretch, when the American closed a three-foot gap and breasted the tape first by a narrow margin. Walter Woodward, University of Washington, and Chuck Cunningham, Victoria, made bids against the Canadian Olympic runner and the American, but Woodward could only place third and Cunningham fourth.

Dunc McNaughton, Vancouver lad, who won the Olympic high jump championship by clearing 6 feet 5 1/2 inches, cleared the bar at 6 feet 2 1/2 inches yesterday but could not go any higher.

Foraking his specialty, McNaughton went to the line in the 120-yard hurdles against Joe Bills, California intercollegiate record-holder. The Vancouver lad found the hurdles too bothersome, so dodged a few. Bills covered the distance in fifteen seconds flat.

William Miller and William Graber, pole vault specialists of the United States at the Los Angeles games, had to quit at thirteen feet six inches after clearing the bar two inches lower.

Including two of Canada's Olympic sprint queens, the Vancouver Athletic Club won the women's 440-yard relay in an exhibition race with the Lucky Horseshoe quartette, Mary Prizell and Mildred Palmer, Vancouver girls who raced at the Olympics, and Doreen Caird and Helen Reeves composed the V.A.C. team, while the Lucky Horseshoe runners were: T. Ann Wilson, Margaret Cowan, Gladys Woodyard and Grace Davis.

Three other exhibition events, the discus throw, the sixteen-pound shotput and the women's 100 yards were cancelled.

New Spalding Golf Guide Is Off Press

Spalding's Golf Guide, for the year 1932, has just been received from the press and is now shown here by the Victoria Sporting Goods Company. This year's guide, in addition to the usual seasonal records, contains Bobby Jones' article on "How I Play Golf."

Badminton Club Meets To-night

The annual meeting of the James Bay Athletic Association badminton club, at which officers for the coming season will be elected, will be held in the clubhouse this evening at 8 o'clock. All badminton players and others interested in the game are requested to attend.

Profit Taking Is Cause of Setback in Wheat Market

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—The wheat market's advance to higher levels received a temporary setback to-day as profit-taking set in. A disappointing export trade was a contributing factor and values closed 1/4 to 1/2 lower.

October finished at 57, December at 58 1/2, and May at 63.

The trade was comparatively light, and while seaboard interests bought some wheat early in the session export trade was not heavy. Hedging sales were not extensive with deliveries in the country still hampered by wet weather.

Overseas cables confirmed a good export business on Monday in Canadian wheat. Broome believes Canadian wheat will enjoy a large share of the international trade with other competitors limited in their supplies and the United States out of line in price. Hedging and profit-taking, with spread fractionally better on the top grades. Coarse grain trade was light, but values held firm.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan &amp; Bryan)

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—Wheat: The market was nervous and erratic within a range of about 1/4 cents to-day the trade passing being largely of a scalping character. Chicago acted much the same as Winnipeg. Opening values about unchanged but the market eased off to 1/4 under the close last night with long liquidating and light profits on the posting of the weather forecast which promised further rains to-day and Wednesday at all three provinces.

Another wave of local buying set in and prices were run up 1/4 cents from the bottom, the October future touching 58 1/2 cents but this buying was not held, the market again easing off to near the earlier low and up against the daily bids. Outside of the liquidation offerings were very light. Hedging sales almost nil despite the fact that 1,048,000 bushels wheat were marketed in the country yesterday.

Seaboard and continental houses bought small lots of wheat at the start but export sales over night were small, estimated at 200,000 bushels. There was a small amount of spreading going on buying here against sales in Chicago.

There was a little better demand for cash wheat to-day and offerings being very light. Spreads were 1/4 to 1/2 better on the top grades, others being unchanged. The weather has been quite wet and unsettled in the Canadian west the past two days and with further rains in sight for to-day and Wednesday it is not likely that much threshing will be done this week which means little or no hedging pressure until these operations are resumed.

The local trend will largely depend on Chicago and eastern interests who are endeavoring to raise commodity prices to higher levels. The open interest in Chicago is now around 150,000,000 increasing greatly the past two months.

Winnipeg closed 1/4 to 1/2 lower. Coarse grains—There was little or no feature to-day and offerings were all easier. There was some inquiry for nearby barley due to the wet weather but no export sales could be confirmed.

Oats closed 1/4 to 1/2 higher; barley 1/4 to 1/2 lower; rye 1/4 to 1/2 lower; flax was strong with speculative buying going on. Boosted closing prices 1/4 to 1/2 cents higher.

Liverpool due 1/4 to 1/2 lower on Winnipeg.

Stepping-out Parents, Who Make Drudges of Their Children, Are Stealing Happiness From the Helpless—Girl of Twenty-six Should Break Family Shackles and Marry

DEAR MISS DIX—I am an intelligent and attractive young girl of eighteen. My dad likes to step out or mischief. I have to stay at home to take care of my two small brothers. I never get to go anywhere except to an occasional matinee with my girl friends and I feel that I am missing the joy of youth by having to stay at home all the time. I had a talk with my parents about it, but their argument is that since they are in their early forties they want to have every joy possible because their time for pleasure is short, while I am young and will have a long time in which to enjoy myself. But I feel if I do not have any pleasure now and cannot go out with boys and perhaps meet the ONE and ONLY that I will lose out altogether. What do you think?

Answer—I think your parents are very selfish in sacrificing you to their own pleasure. The younger children are their responsibility, not yours, and they have no right to make you stay at home and take care of them while they are out enjoying themselves.

Young parents, the parents who will not settle down and be their age, invariably make old children, for somebody has to pay the burden of family life, and when those who should shoulder the load duck it, it falls with crushing force on the youngsters they have brought into the world and makes them old before their time.

I have known a lot of these dancing mothers and fathers who were out every evening sporting themselves in night clubs, who would gaily go away on long trips together, who would spend their days in the gay links and who spent their money in indulging themselves in an extravagance that they fancied and everybody said how wonderful they were that they kept the keen enjoyment of youth and that they did not let their children be a burden on them as so many people did and so on and so on.

And I have seen their children, careworn, harassed little creatures, substituting as well as they could at home for father and mother who had simply quit cold on their duties. Girls who had to stay at home and mother their mother's babies. Girls who were walking colicky infants while mother was off dancing. Girls who had to go shabby because it took all the money to buy mother finery.

Boys who had to stand off bill collectors and who would lay awake at night trying to devise ways to pay the butcher and baker and the candlestick maker for things their irresponsible parents had bought. Boys who had to quit school and go to work to help support the family because their father would rather play than work.

And all of us know dozens of men and women dependent on their children in their old age who could have been independent if they had only been willing to deny themselves and lay up something for their old age. But they preferred to eat, drink and be merry and to indulge themselves in every luxury while they were young and could enjoy things and to leave it to their children to bear the burden of their support when they were old.

Nothing could be more cruelly selfish than these parents who sacrifice their children to their own pleasures. They have no right to evade their responsibilities, no right to lay their burdens on weak young shoulders. They have had their youth, their playtime and they should not rob their children of theirs.

The Peter Pans who never grow up are only admirable in fiction. In real life they are contemptible quitters who are too cowardly to assume a man's and woman's obligations. And they are doubly contemptible when they steal from a young girl her playtime and her chance of perhaps marrying a man on whom she could depend more than she can on her father.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I will be twenty-six this year. I am engaged to the most wonderful man in the world. He has quite a bit of money saved, enough to buy all our furniture and still have a nice little nest egg and is making what is a good salary for these times. I also have a good job and he does not object to my keeping it, but my mother does. Do you not think I am old enough to judge what is the best to do for myself? Mother always wanted me to marry and kept nagging me about it and now that I really want to marry she is standing in my way. What shall I do?

JANICE.

Answer—If you have not enough intelligence at twenty-six to know your own mind and decide your own problems, you never will have, so now is the time for you to make a strike for freedom and cut your mother's apron string.

Of course, as long as you live you will want to listen respectfully to your mother's opinions and avoid needlessly hurting her by refusing to take her advice. But when you are a woman-grown you have to stand on your own feet and settle your own affairs. Your mother cannot do that for you. She cannot live your life for you, or really know what is best for you, no matter how much she thinks she does.

In this case she is altogether wrong, and she is interfering in something that is not her business. The question is absolutely between you and the young man, and if you want to continue on with your job and he does not object, your mother has no say-so in the matter.

You would certainly be very foolish not to go on and do the thing that your judgment indicates to you is the wisest thing to do. Your mother's objection is based upon nothing better than some outmoded old theory that there was some discredit somehow in a girl working after marriage. Nobody is bound by that ancient tradition nowadays when everybody recognizes a woman's right to help herself and her husband in any way she can, and if she can do it better by working in an office instead of a kitchen, why it is just up to her.

Of course, mothers always think they know best. Probably they never did. Certainly they do not know now when all the conditions of life have changed since their youth.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am sixteen, deeply in love with a man of twenty-six. But although we intend to marry I yearn for an education and a career. I have now reached the crossroads of life. Which should I choose—a career or marriage?

IRENE.

Answer—Well at sixteen I should certainly urge you to gratify your yearning for at least three or four years more of education, for whether you marry or not you will need to learn a lot that you do not know now.

Sixteen is too young for any girl to marry. You do not know your own mind then and the man that appeals to you one day you will tire of the next. Your tastes are unformed and the man you are crazy about at sixteen you would not have on a bet when you are twenty. And if you marry at sixteen you will miss all the playtime of life, and just at the age when other girls are joyriding you will be pushing a perambulator, and when they are looking their prettiest you will be a faded, dragged-out married woman sitting at home wishing you had not been such a fool as to tie yourself down too soon.

As for choosing between a career or marriage, that question will settle itself if you will give it a little time. For you will probably find that you have no great talent that will urge you into following any special line of endeavor. But if you marry you can have your cake and eat it, too, because you can make a career of marriage and in that a woman achieves the greatest success and finds her highest reward.

Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1932

Adverse planetary aspects are dominated to-day by stronger benefic influences, according to astrology. It is a day most auspicious for business matters.

The morning hours should be favorable for conferences on financial problems. Bankers are subject to a wary suspicion to encourage helpfulness.

Changes in the policies and methods of bankers again are foretold. New safeguards and novel aids seem to be prearranged for persons of average resources.

Good news may be expected in regard to national issues. The public prints will carry much of interest at this time. Publishers will profit.

Advertising to-day should be especially helpful. The stars seem to promise good returns from all sorts of publicity.

This is read as an auspicious way under which to launch enterprises, but the seers counsel conservative methods. Merchants may look forward to good trade and rising prices in the autumn, now so near. Much buying is indicated.

Women to-day should be cautious, for the planetary influences are more or less hostile. Danger of discrimination against them in certain lines of work is foreboded.

Astrologers stress the importance of cultivating rare or unusual talents. Boys and girls should watch for their best chances of gain through special gifts.

It is well to delay decisions until a more favorable direction of the stars is assumed. Under this planetary government, there may be much inclination to choose what is easiest.

The moon to-day is in a sign supposed to rule the muscular system, and athletes should benefit. Success for baseball clubs is indicated.

Earthquakes again are prognosticated. In South America Brazil and Peru may be affected. Central China and the Philippines may expect shocks. It is prognosticated.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of many surprises and

SUGAR REFINERY BUYS ISLAND COAL

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 30.—A contract for 25,000 tons of Vancouver Island coal has been placed by the B.C. Sugar Refinery, Vancouver, with the Canadian Collieries Ltd., according to an announcement here.

The contract is for the usual amount purchased by the company each year from Island mines. The refinery was at one time a user of fuel oil.

Thirty-eight countries of the world are now governed by presidents.
